Spectacular Wreck Caused By Washout Blocks B&O Tracks

Auto's Plunge Off Ferry Kills Eight Of Family

PRINCETON, Calif. (AP) — A station wagon with faulty brakes carried 10 members of a Mexican fruit picker's family off the end of a ferry boat Saturday. Eight of them drowned in the Sacramento River, trapped in the car.

The dead: Fortino Aguilar, 38, his wife, Christina, 32, five of their six children—Margarita, 15, Maria, 13, Christina, 6, Fortino Jr., 4, and Pepe, 3 — and Mrs. Aguilar's mother, Mrs. Santos Garcia, 50. The Aguilars' mailing address is Chiliquin, Ore.

Survivors of the tragic accident are the Aguilars' sixth child, Michael "Mickey" Aguilar, 2, and a 14-year-old daughter of Mrs. Garcia, Antonia. They floated to the surface and were pulled into a small boat by a quick-thinking ferry boatman.

First reports said that an 11th occupant of the car also floated to the surface and was swept away in the current. Witnesses say they saw a bobbing head near those of little Mickey and Antonia. Search was continuing Sunday but officers said they believed the third object was a floating log.

Also alive is Mrs. Garcia's husband, Carlos Garcia, 62, Mexican-born resident of Redondo Beach, Calif. He didn't accompany the rest of the family on the Saturday afternoon outing. He told corner Howard Moore through an interpreter he stayed in Princeton "to take a nap."

Looking old and broken, he identified the row of bodies at the morgue—his wife, his daughter, a son-in-law and five grand-children. He said he believed all were accounted for, counting little Mickey and his own daughter "Toni" in the hospital. The Oregon and California clans had met in this area for a "big reunion," he said.

Skindivers recovered the eight bodies from the car.

Missile Defense System 3 Years, $6 Billion Away

WASHINGTON (AP) — A completed system of defense against intercontinental ballistic missiles may be more than six billion dollars and three years away.

The test shot of an atomic warhead on an Army ballistic missile in the Pacific last Friday was only the first exploratory effort to get some idea of how a nuclear explosion works at high altitude. The test was conducted over Johnston Island, 700 miles southwest of Honolulu.

Army officials foresee no possibility of having fully operational antimissile missiles ready before the early 1960s—which probably means not before 1961.

The nation has only just begun to spend the huge amounts that will be needed for a complete warning and weapon system.

To date, the Defense Department has committed or asked for authority to commit funds totaling about 504 million dollars.

Congressional committees have been given preliminary and highly tentative estimates that the system eventually will cost between five and six billion dollars.

Swedish Tycoon Dies

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Axel Axelson-Johnson, 82, one of Sweden's giants in international industry and finance, died in a Stockholm hospital Sunday. He had been ill for some time.

The financier leaves an estate estimated at 100 million dollars. He was president of several major Swedish industrial companies.

U.S. Officials Weigh Impact Of Decisions

Dulles Takes Off For Brazil After Huddle With Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials said Sunday the secret meeting between Russia's Nikita Khrushchev and Mao Tze-tung of Red China may have resulted in Communist bloc decisions of major importance to prospects for an early summit conference.

Secretary of State Dulles, following a White House talk with President Eisenhower, told reporters that he had merely read the Peiping communiqué on the meeting and did not know enough about the whole subject to comment in detail on it.

He chided the Reds, however, by picking up a reference to their promotion of Communist activities in Latin America and suggesting that they could concentrate their "independence" work closer home—obviously meaning Eastern Europe.

Dulles Flying To Brazil

"I just read the communiqué," Dulles said. "I was struck by the fact that the communiqué says the Russians and the Chinese are going to carry out an independence movement in Latin America. I thought that if they wanted to spread independence they could start nearer home."

The Khrushchev-Mao communiqué contained this passage:

"China and the Soviet Union give firm support to the just struggles of the peoples of the United Arab Republic, the Republic of Iraq and the other Arab countries, as well as to the national independence movements of the peoples in Asia, Africa and Latin America."

Dulles talked with reporters at National Airport before taking off on a three-day flying trip to Brazil.

Other officials said the tone of the communiqué was tough and aggressive and gave no evidence of any intention on the part of the Communist high command to seek understandings with Western leaders at a summit conference which would ease tension in the Middle East or anywhere else.

Washington Surprised

The announcement of the Peiping meeting surprised and mystified U.S. officials particularly because it came in the midst of exchanges between Khrushchev and Western government chiefs over the possibility of arranging a summit meeting.

On the surface of a communiqué issued after the secret four-day meeting at Peiping, Khrushchev appeared to have won Red Chinese support for his position that a summit meeting needs to be held urgently to deal with the Middle Eastern crisis. It was noted there was no footnote attached to this saying that Red China ought to be brought into the conference.

In Washington preparations for an early summit meeting within the United Nations will go forward as planned, officials said, on the assumption that one will be held in New York or Geneva probably beginning sometime in the period Aug. 12-18.

British Soldier Shot To Death On Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—A British army sergeant was shot and killed in a garden in Limassol Sunday. It was the second killing of a British soldier in Cyprus in 48 hours.

The killings are believed to be the work of EOKA—Greek Cypriot underground — assassins out to avenge two Greek rioters killed when British troops opened fire last Thursday.

U.S. Moon Rocket Shot Reported Set For Aug. 17

WASHINGTON (AP)—Aviation Week magazine said Sunday the launching of the first U.S. lunar probe has been scheduled for between 6 a.m. and noon Aug. 17.

The first Air Force shot will be an attempt to place a small satellite in an orbit around the moon. Aviation Week magazine also reported, without elaboration, that the Russians tried to hit the moon May 1 and failed.

The magazine said instruments aboard the forthcoming moon shot will weigh about 30 pounds. The telemetering equipment will be completed.

Appropriations Rules Change Plan Opposed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A powerful House group seeking to tighten the House Appropriations Committee's control over federal spending has run into the equally powerful opposition of Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas and others.

Backing a proposed rules change which would nullify what they call a Senate gimmick to spend billions of dollars without clearing through the Appropriations Committee are such leaders as Chairman Howard W. Smith (D-Va.) of the Rules Committee and Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.) of the Appropriations Committee.

Lined up with them in support of a resolution introduced by Smith are Reps. John Taber (R-N.Y.), Albert Thomas (D-Tex.) and George Mahon (D-Tex.) senior Appropriations Committee members.

Smith's resolution is scheduled for a hearing before the Virginia committee this week. It would amend the House rules to prohibit House consideration of any bill providing for withdrawal of money from the Treasury or creating obligations by contract in advance of appropriations unless the bill is cleared by the Appropriations Committee.

Without leadership approval — and that means Rayburn-Smith doesn't see much hope for his resolution this year.

"At the moment," Rayburn told reporters, "I would be opposed to it."

Rayburn is known to feel that any differences between Senate and House should be worked out without resorting to a change in the basic rules.

Statistics compiled by the House Appropriations Committee show that this year alone the Senate or the House has passed bills which call for obligation of more than eight billion dollars, none of which cleared through the Appropriations Committee.

Jehovah's Witnesses Wind Up Assembly

NEW YORK (AP)—More than 250,000 persons packed Yankee Stadium and the Polo Grounds to overflowing Sunday for the final session of the eight-day Jehovah's Witnesses international assembly. They interrupted their leader, Nathan H. Knorr, 19 times with thundering applause as he condemned the United Nations and all governments by men. He repeated the movement's belief the end of the world is near.

A grand total of 253,922 persons attended the session, jamming the Stadium, spreading out the outfield, sitting under tents, crowding into the Polo Grounds, and standing on the pavement outside the two baseball parks. Knorr's address was carried from Yankee Stadium to the Polo Grounds by a public address system.

Bridge Player Barred; Plans Suit

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A New York bridge player has been barred from international competition effective Sept. 1 and his attorney says suit will be filed Monday in an effort to have the unprecedented action set aside.

Directors of the American Contract Bridge League Saturday barred Tobias Stone on a charge of discourtesy during a world tournament in Italy.

League public information officer Richard Frey said there is no appeal from the suspension.

Stone termed the action incredible. His attorney, Herman Rogge of New York, said there was no specification of the charge against his client. "He will seek relief on the grounds that what transpired at the hearing could not support the results," Rogge said.

Stone was a member of the American team competing in Como, Italy, early this year. The Italian team, tournament winners, complained Stone was discourteous to an opponent. The board of directors found no basis for a complaint that Stone accused the Italians of cheating.

Jordan Begins Trial Of Alleged Syrian Agents

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Twenty-seven shabbily dressed Arabs went on trial before a military court Sunday on charges of slipping across the border from Syria with arms and explosives to overthrow Jordan's royal government.

The defendants, all Jordanians ranging in age from 16 to 70, faced the three-man court at a time when the government of King Hussein was being confronted with increased violence.

Time bomb and dynamite explosions as well as clashes with alleged infiltrators have erupted in the last week. Jordan has charged that Egyptians and Syrians from President Nasser's United Arab Republic were trying to overthrow the regime.

The Jordanians on trial were seized by Hussein's troops in a clash near the Syrian border last Sunday, the prosecution charged. Their number was originally set at eight but the prosecutor said Sunday the band had as many as 60 members. He said the others were being hunted.

The trial opened in a building in the Arab Legion camp outside Amman. Under Jordan's martial law—in existence since April 1957—the penalty for illegal possession of arms is death on the gallows.

The defendants stood looking downward as the prosecutor read off to the presiding judge charges that they had fled to Syria where they underwent special training in Syrian army camps on how to set off a revolt.

The prosecutor said they all had confessed to smuggling arms into Jordan and stockpiling them in northern Jordan to be used when the signal was given.

Knowland Sees Close Senate Control Battle

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland said Sunday that the battle for control of the Senate next November could be decided by "one or two votes" in favor of either party.

Simultaneously, Sen. George Smathers (D-Fla.), chairman of the Senate Democratic Campaign Committee, predicted that the Democrats would gain 10 to 12 Senate seats in the autumn elections.

Smathers forecast Democratic gains from Senate contests in California, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Maryland, Maine, West Virginia, Alaska and Michigan.

Knowland insisted the election was not "in the bag for anybody, either on the national level or on a state contest." He said "the contest is yet to be determined and I would look personally for a very close division in the Senate."

He also refused to write off his own chances for success in his uphill fight for the California governorship. He conceded he faced "one of the hardest contests in the country" but said "It's a contest that can and will be won."

The GOP Senate leader made the statement in a radio interview.

Knowland's optimism about GOP chances next fall coincided with what Vice President Richard M. Nixon has been telling Republican members of Congress.

Nixon has been saying that the election chances of GOP congressmen are improving because "Nobody is mad at Congress." He has been advising them that 1958 will be a "good year for incumbents."

Smathers said much the same thing in a filmed TV interview. He said that the Middle East crisis, "which has greatly disturbed people all over the nation, has a tendency to help the incumbent."

East-West Storm Blows Up In Berlin After Reds Kidnap Goddess Of Victory

BERLIN (AP) — An East-West storm blew up in divided Berlin Sunday because the Communists kidnapped a popular copper lady and her chariot.

The Reds spirited away the hapless female in the dead of the night. She was hidden away in a chariot and all in a dark, dank stable near Marx-Engels Square in East Berlin.

"We're not going to stand for this," West Berlin's Dep. Mayor Franz Amrehn told his indignant citizenry.

Amrehn announced he was sending an envoy over to East Berlin Monday to negotiate for the release of the lady.

The abducted female is the Goddess of Victory, centerpiece of the famous giant Quadriga statue. She used to be perched atop the ancient Brandenburg Gate, riding a chariot drawn by four horses.

86-Day-Old Revolt Cools Off Rapidly

BEIRUT (AP) — Fresh American troops and equipment streamed ashore in Lebanon Sunday, boosting the total U.S. forces here to more than 13,000 men.

Offshore awaiting unloading Monday is a transport carrying 301 vehicles, including 72 medium and 3 light tanks.

Landed Sunday under a broiling sun were 2,200 men. Most of them are personnel from the 35th Medium Tank Battalion. Others include engineers, service company radiomen, a medical unit and food inspectors.

Military commanders would not say, but there were indications that still more men and equipment may be on the way to Lebanon. All the newly landed forces came from Bremerhaven, Germany.

Beirut, Tripoli Quiet

Officers were again asked whether weapons capable of firing atomic warheads, and atomic shells themselves, have been unloaded in Lebanon. They refused to comment directly but said "There's no intention in the present situation to use atomic weapons."

The landings of the men and equipment came despite a rapid cooling off in this troubled nation's 86-day-old rebellion.

Both Beirut and the northern port city of Tripoli have been almost completely quiet during the last 36 hours. Not even the usual sporadic small arms fire was heard Sunday in Beirut.

In Tripoli, rebel leader Rashid Karami ordered his men not to fire, but to keep their arms and continue to man their positions "until the situation clarifies."

Political Controversy

In the mountains around Beirut, rebel leader Kamal Jumblatt was reported disarming his tough 2,000 man guerrilla army of Druse tribesmen.

But while the shooting was dying down a new political explosion was threatening to blow apart any gains toward peace. Lebanese politicians wrangled over who should represent Lebanon if it is invited to any summit conference on the Middle East.

Some politicians maintain President Camille Chamoun, whose term expires Sept. 23, should attend. Others are demanding that President-elect Fuad Shehab be given the job.

Israel Reportedly Halts Allied Airlift

AMMAN (AP) — Informal sources said Sunday night Israel has canceled permission for British and American planes to fly over its territory to supply British forces in Jordan.

(There was no immediate comment from Israel.)

The planes have been supplying more than 2,000 British parachute troops who landed at Amman airport July 17 at the request of King Hussein to help preserve Jordan's independence and internal stability.

The troops themselves flew over Israel from the British base of Cyprus.

Red Leaders Issue Summit Talk Demand

Soviet, Red Chinese Bosses End Secret Meeting In Peiping

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev and Mao Tze-tung of Red China announced Sunday they had agreed at a secret four-day conclave in Peiping in demanding an immediate big power summit meeting on the Middle East.

They left unanswered the question whether they would demand a seat at such a conference for Red China.

Whether Khrushchev or the Red China boss won on this point was expected to be disclosed when the Soviet Premier answers the latest Western proposals for a summit conference in the U.N. Security Council.

His answer is expected no later than Monday.

A possible tipoff, however, was seen Sunday night in sharpening Soviet press criticism of the Western position on summit talks, together with the raising for the first time of the issue of the participation of Nationalist China's Chiang Kai-shek.

Flew To Peiping Thursday

In a special commentary, the official news agency Tass said Washington was insisting on a top-level meeting in the Security Council because "the United States can for instance, use Chiang Kai-shek and his veto to keep India from participating in the conference."

A joint communiqué, issued in Moscow and Peiping, disclosed Khrushchev flew to Peiping last Thursday for the "Red summit" talks.

On his departure from Peiping Sunday he was seen off by Mao and other Chinese leaders. Peiping radio said they shook hands warmly and toasted each other.

One possible explanation of the top-level Soviet-Chinese meeting is that Khrushchev flew to Peiping to appease Mao who so far has been left out in the cold on the proposed big power summit conference.

Possible Friction

Khrushchev has agreed in essence to a summit conference within the framework of the Security Council where Nationalist China has a seat and where Red China does not.

In East-West negotiations on the talks, Khrushchev has expressed no flat or direct objection to sitting down with Nationalist China's Chiang Kai-shek or his representative at the summit table.

He has said he prefers a meeting just of the big powers, however, and has proposed that India be invited, along with U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld.

It is believed in Moscow this disregard for the interests of Communist China may have raised violent objections in Peiping which necessitated a personal meeting between Khrushchev and Mao.

"Harmony" Communiqué

Red China, violently opposed to Chiang's regime, may have felt this would amount to Moscow's tacit recognition of a sworn enemy.

No hint of any such disagreement appeared, however, in the communiqué released after the talks.

The communiqué expressed complete solidarity between Moscow and Peiping on the Middle East crisis and the international situation as a whole.

It jointly condemned American and British "flagrant aggression" in the Middle East and demanded the withdrawal of American and British troops from Lebanon and Jordan without delay.

West Berlin foundry which had an old plaster cast.

Friday, West Berliners began moving the massive pieces to the Brandenburg Gate where they were received by the East Berliners.

Amrehn said the Communists agreed to leave the statue on view at the gate until Sept. 15 when it was to be hoisted to its old perch.

Early Sunday hundreds of West Berliners started pouring out to the gate to see their beloved goddess. They were shocked to see that the lady had vanished. They angrily protested to City Hall.

Then the East Berlin government announced that during the night Quadriga had been moved into the Marstall, abandoned stables of Germany's Kaisers. The Reds promised to return the goddess in time for the September unveiling.

BEIRUT (AP) — Fresh American troops and equipment streamed ashore in Lebanon Sunday, boosting the total U.S. forces here to more than 13,000 men.

Offshore awaiting unloading Monday is a transport carrying 301 vehicles, including 72 medium and 3 light tanks.

Landed Sunday under a broiling sun were 2,200 men. Most of them are personnel from the 35th Medium Tank Battalion. Others include engineers, service company radiomen, a medical unit and food inspectors.

Military commanders would not say, but there were indications that still more men and equipment may be on the way to Lebanon. All the newly landed forces came from Bremerhaven, Germany.

Beirut, Tripoli Quiet

Officers were again asked whether weapons capable of firing atomic warheads, and atomic shells themselves, have been unloaded in Lebanon. They refused to comment directly but said "There's no intention in the present situation to use atomic weapons."

The landings of the men and equipment came despite a rapid cooling off in this troubled nation's 86-day-old rebellion.

Both Beirut and the northern port city of Tripoli have been almost completely quiet during the last 36 hours. Not even the usual sporadic small arms fire was heard Sunday in Beirut.

In Tripoli, rebel leader Rashid Karami ordered his men not to fire, but to keep their arms and continue to man their positions "until the situation clarifies."

Political Controversy

In the mountains around Beirut, rebel leader Kamal Jumblatt was reported disarming his tough 2,000 man guerrilla army of Druse tribesmen.

But while the shooting was dying down a new political explosion was threatening to blow apart any gains toward peace. Lebanese politicians wrangled over who should represent Lebanon if it is invited to any summit conference on the Middle East.

Some politicians maintain President Camille Chamoun, whose term expires Sept. 23, should attend. Others are demanding that President-elect Fuad Shehab be given the job.

Israel Reportedly
Halts Allied Airlift

AMMAN (AP) — Informed sources said Sunday night Israel has canceled permission for British and American planes to fly over its territory to supply British forces in Jordan.

(There was no immediate comment from Israel.)

The planes have been supplying more than 2,000 British parachute troops who landed at Amman airport July 17 at the request of King Hussein to help preserve Jordan's independence and internal stability.

The troops themselves flew over Israel from the British base of Cyprus.

Soviet, Red Chinese
Bosses End Secret
Meeting In Peiping

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev and Mao Tze-tung of Red China announced Sunday they had agreed at a secret four-day conclave in Peiping in demanding an immediate big power summit meeting on the Middle East.

They left unanswered the question whether they would demand a seat at such a conference for Red China.

Whether Khrushchev or the Red China boss won on this point was expected to be disclosed when the Soviet Premier answers the latest Western proposals for a summit conference in the U.N. Security Council.

His answer is expected no later than Monday.

A possible tipoff, however, was seen Sunday night in sharpening Soviet press criticism of the Western position on summit talks, together with the raising for the first time of the issue of the participation of Nationalist China's Chiang Kai-shek.

Flew To Peiping Thursday

In a special commentary, the official news agency Tass said Washington was insisting on a top-level meeting in the Security Council because "the United States can for instance, use Chiang Kai-shek and his veto to keep India from participating in the conference."

A joint communique, issued in Moscow and Peiping, disclosed Khrushchev flew to Peiping last Thursday for the "Red summit" talks.

On his departure from Peiping Sunday he was seen off by Mao and other Chinese leaders. Peiping radio said they shook hands warmly and toasted each other.

One possible explanation of the top-level Soviet-Chinese meeting is that Khrushchev flew to Peiping to appease Mao who so far has been left out in the cold on the proposed big power summit conference.

Possible Friction

Khrushchev has agreed in essence to a summit conference within the framework of the Security Council where Nationalist China has a seat and where Red China does not.

In East-West negotiations on the talks, Khrushchev has expressed no flat or direct objection to sitting down with Nationalist China's Chiang Kai-shek or his representative at the summit table.

He has said he prefers a meeting just of the big powers, however, and has proposed that India be invited, along with U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld.

It is believed in Moscow this disregard for the interests of Communist China may have raised violent objections in Peiping which necessitated a personal meeting between Khrushchev and Mao.

"Harmony" Communique

Red China, violently opposed to Chiang's regime, may have felt this would amount to Moscow's tacit recognition of a sworn enemy.

No hint of any such disagreement appeared, however, in the communique released after the talks.

The communique expressed complete solidarity between Moscow and Peiping on the Middle East crisis and the international situation as a whole.

It jointly condemned American and British "flagrant aggression" in the Middle East and demanded the withdrawal of American and British troops from Lebanon and Jordan without delay.

West Berlin foundry which had an old plaster cast.

Friday, West Berliners began moving the massive pieces to the Brandenburg Gate where they were received by the East Berliners.

Amrehn said the Communists agreed to leave the statue on view at the gate until Sept. 15 when it was to be hoisted to its old perch.

Early Sunday hundreds of West Berliners started pouring out to the gate to see their beloved goddess. They were shocked to see that the lady had vanished. They angrily protested to City Hall.

Then the East Berlin government announced that during the night Quadriga had been moved into the Marstall, abandoned stables of Germany's Kaisers. The Reds promised to return the goddess in time for the September unveiling.

Congress Adjournment Date Remains In Doubt

WASHINGTON (UPD) — House Democratic and Republican leaders said Sunday they hoped the Democratic-controlled 85th Congress would be able to adjourn for the year Saturday night.

But they indicated that the real target date for adjournment was Aug. 16. Some doubted even that this deadline could be met because of the heavy backlog of "must" legislation still awaiting action.

However, Rep. Charles A. Halleck (R-Ind.), a top House Republican leader, said the "greatest accomplishment" of Congress thus far would be to adjourn early. He expressed the hope that the lawmakers would wind up their legislative work in this election year Saturday night.

"I'll shake your hand on that," commented House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack (Mass.) in a debate with Halleck on a television program.

The lawmakers are anxious to head for home to mend their political fences before the November off-year elections that will decide the makeup of the 86th Congress which convenes next January.

But about a score of major bills still await final action, with some certain of final approval and others in the doubtful category. Among the more important are reaching President Eisenhower's desk in one form or another are measures to:

- Extend the tariff-cutting reciprocal trade program. A Senate-House conference committee meets Monday in an effort to resolve the differences in Senate and House versions to extend the program three and five years respectively.
- Raise the 280 billion dollar temporary ceiling on the national debt to 288 billion dollars. The House will take action on the ceiling-raising measure Tuesday.
- Appropriate the largest amount for the armed forces in the peacetime history of the country. A Senate-House conference committee will resolve the differences between the $40,042,922,000 and the $38,409,561,000 voted by the Senate and House respectively.

At Least 7 Die In Md. Weekend Traffic Crashes

(By The Associated Press)

At least seven persons died in Maryland highway accidents during the weekend, three of them in a head-on collision on U.S. 301 in Anne Arundel County.

Two Baltimore City men were killed Sunday in separate accidents west of the city in Baltimore County.

Vernon Ray Odle, 29, of East Baltimore, was driving east on the Old Court Road in the Woodlawn section of the county when his car went off the left side of the road. In trying to get back on the highway, police said, Odle lost control and the car overturned.

Fatally injured a few miles south of there was Earl R. King, 24, of Baltimore. He lost control of his car about 3:30 a.m. while driving on Ellicott Drive and struck a tree. He died at 4:40 a.m. in St. Agnes Hospital.

Police said King was a chauffeur, alone in the car.

Many other persons were injured in accidents, including eight hurt in the Saturday crash that claimed three lives.

Three Washington residents were killed in the crash on U.S. 301 which occurred when one car apparently pulled out to pass another. They were Mrs. Lillian M. Gates, 80; her daughter Althea Shoemaker, 35; and Cecil A. Cardwell, 42, who died later at Anne Arundel General Hospital in Annapolis.

Those fatally injured were all in a northbound car driven by Cardwell, State Police said. Three others in the vehicle who were injured were Cardwell's wife Aleda, 40; Isabel Smnners, 50; and Mrs. Esther Topping 52. Mrs. Topping is from Portsmouth, Va., and the others from Washington.

The two occupants of the southbound car were David Weyuker, 54, and his wife, Rose, 48, of Brooklyn, N. Y. They were taken to the Annapolis hospital and Weyuker later was transferred to Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore.

A State Policeman who investigated the accident 20 miles south of Baltimore said the vehicles almost seemed to be welded together by the impact. He said one woman in the rear seat of the Cardwell car had been tossed through the front windshield.

In another accident, Clarence N. Wright Jr., 21, U. S. Navy sailor stationed at Arlington, Va., died after he was tossed from his auto as it skidded off the Baltimore-Washington Parkway near Riverdale.

Dallas Levi Cross of Laurel was killed in a two-car crash on Maryland 108 near Laytonsville, Montgomery County.

Vast Man-Made Lake Forming

PIERRE, S. D. (AP)—An army of men and machines put a new lake on the plains of semi-arid South Dakota Sunday.

Huge earth movers and bulldozers succeeded in sealing off the Missouri River at Oahe Dam, six miles above the capital here.

Water began flowing through thick concrete flood control tunnels and a lake which ultimately will be 250 miles long began to form.

Army engineers figured that within 30 days the lake would be 50 miles long and about 50 feet deep.

The huge reservoir, which will stretch from Pierre to Bismarck, N. D., will provide the region with flood control, electric power and recreation facilities.

"Anti-Bugging" Bill Prepared By Rep. Keating

WASHINGTON (UPD) — Rep. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N. Y.) announced Sunday that he was drafting a federal "anti-bugging" bill as a result of the "bald-faced, bungling" attempt to eavesdrop on an associate of Bernard Goldfine.

Keating said the nation was "shocked" by the disclosure that Baron I. Shacklette, then chief investigator for the House Influence-hunting Subcommittee, had spied with electronic devices on the hotel room of Jack Lott, Goldfine's press agent.

"The insidious practice of electronic eavesdropping goes to the very marrow of our individual freedoms," Keating said. "It represents a blatant invasion of the right of privacy."

He said the curbing of abuses was primarily a state problem, but the Shacklette incident demonstrated a need for state-type prohibitions in the District of Columbia.

Federal legislation also should regulate the use of "bugging" devices where interstate crimes and transactions are involved, Keating said.

"We should also bring the wire-tapping laws up to date to cover electronic eavesdropping which can effectively listen in on conversations without actually tapping the wire," he said.

Farm Worker Hurt In Fracas

BALTIMORE (AP)—A migrant farm worker from Dorchester County lay in critical condition at University Hospital Sunday after an operation for head injuries he reportedly suffered in a gambling fracas.

Meanwhile, Dorchester County authorities charged Curtis (Curley) Alston, 24, of Florida, with assault with intent to kill.

Police said the victim of the fight, William Green, was allegedly hit over the head with a tent pole Saturday as the climax to an argument over gambling.

Green was left unconscious and unattended for nearly 12 hours at a labor camp near Shiloh Church. When two police officers went to investigate, they were confronted by 50 to 75 Negroes armed with knives and guns and in a belligerent mood.

Green was taken by another worker to Cambridge Maryland Hospital in Cambridge, then transferred to Baltimore for an emergency operation late Saturday.

Just two weeks ago, the labor camp opened despite protests from residents of the area. About 90 shacks serve as living quarters for the workers on a site formerly used as camp grounds by the Church of God.

Three "Golden Rule" Crewmen Leave Jail

HONOLULU (AP)—Three pacifist crew members of the nuclear protest Ketch Golden Rule came out of jail Sunday. They were unshaven but smiling and said they thought their protests against weapons tests had gained public support.

They are William R. Huntington, 51, of St. James, Long Island, N.Y.; Orion Sherwood, 28, of Poughkeepsie, N.Y.; and George Willoughby, 43, of Blackwood Terrace, N.J.

They served 60-day jail terms for attempting to sail the Golden Rule into the U.S. nuclear test zone centered at Eniwetok in the Marshall Islands.

Man Shot By Officer During Tavern Brawl

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ralph Davis, 24, of 4435 E. St., SE, was shot within an inch of his heart Saturday night by a special policeman during a tavern brawl.

Davis is in serious condition at Freedmen's Hospital.

Deputy Police Chief George R. Wallrode said Special Officer John A. McKenzie fired his revolver as he lay on his back on the floor of the Kit-Mar Tavern at 14th St. and Florida Ave., NW.

Wallrode said McKenzie told him he had tried to arrest Davis on a drunk and disorderly charge and was knocked down.

Charles Center Project Clears Hurdle

BALTIMORE (AP) — The dramatic 127-million-dollar proposal to demolish 22 acres of worn-out downtown Baltimore and rebuild it with skyscrapers of steel and glass has cleared its first hurdle.

The Baltimore Urban Renewal and Housing Agency, to which the plan was submitted last March, gave its approval Saturday.

The agency recommended the city invest 20 to 30 million dollars in public funds to start the ball rolling and cautioned that the city cannot reasonably permit a further decline in the downtown area and in municipal tax revenues.

A lackadaisical attitude would endanger the entire central business district, the city agency said.

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, who gave the so-called Charles Center plan his enthusiastic endorsement when it was first proposed, said he was in full accord with the urban renewal group.

The next step is to present a formal renewal plan to City Council which must approve it before a bond issue for the city's investment in the project can be placed before the voters in the November election.

The formal plan presumably will be able in about eight years through higher tax revenues.

The remaining 110 million would come through private investment, the planners said, including the 12 million dollar cost of the underground garage.

Their proposal calls for tearing down all but five existing buildings in the eight block area. In place of these would be built an 800-room hotel, a 3,000-seat TV Theater Center and eight office towers. Underlying the entire area which would be laced with parks, open spaces and moving sidewalks and stairways, would be a 4,000-car parking garage and two bus terminals—one for interstate operations the other for rapid transit.

The planning council estimated the city's share of the project, including buying up the land and razing the buildings, at 17 million dollars, which would be recovered or no charge. Only one trip required. Disabled persons may send a friend, 45 South Mt. Vernon Ave., 500 ft. off Rt. 40, Uniontown, Pa. Office hours: Daily 10-6. Sunday 10-4. Permanently located. Test That Throat Line

Lift your head as high as you can. Move your jaw up and down in a quick chewing motion. How does the unaccustomed pull on your throat muscles feel?

Difficulty in stretching the muscles is a warning. If there's more than a slight feeling of strain, make no mistake about it—you're on your way to acquiring a sagging throat line. Those small and delicate muscles are relaxing into inactivity. They're becoming soft and loose, and a pouchy and jeweled look can't be far behind.

What to do about it? Look to the same corrective measure that works so well to keep larger parts of the body firm and trim—exercise. Nature is ready here as always to work with you if you know how to use its willing cooperation. Make this routine a ten-minute everyday habit:

1. Slowly rotate your head, from one far side to the other and let it fall low as it moves.
 2. Throw your head back, chew hard and fast for a count of ten. Repeat, but this time direct your chin as far as you can first to one side and then to the other.
 3. With the chin well up, say "aye" with a wide grin, and "oh" with pursed lips.
- Also, as a day-long attitude, keep your chin parallel to the floor and look down with eyes without dropping your head. When giving your skin its daily care, mold your jaw between your thumb and forefinger and stroke your throat upward with your palms.

Think about it now—what has caused that perhaps almost painful muscular inflexibility you felt in the simple test you just gave yourself? Isn't the reason, that you're forgetting something that's very important to beauty—the habit of holding your head high?

Keyser Boy Will Attend Institute

KEYSER — William Lyon, 18, of Keyser is one of 15 older 4-H farm boys from West Virginia selected to attend the annual meeting of the American Institute of Cooperation at Pennsylvania State University, August 24-27, under sponsorship of the Southern States Cooperative.

Lyon has been a member of the Agricolae 4-H Club at New Creek for seven years. He attended one older youth 4-H camp and seven county camps. This year he served as sagamore of his tribe at the county camp and received his green and white award.

Lyon has been president of his club and is serving his second year as junior leader. In the past six years he completed nine projects, receiving eight blue and one red ribbon. He is carrying four projects this year: Swine, broilers, trapping and junior leadership.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. David Lyon, he is a 1958 graduate of Keyser High School and an active member of the Sunnyside Church of the Brethren.

Area Delegates Attend Pythian Convention

LONACONING — Mrs. Nellie Miller and Mrs. Sally Schramm will leave Saturday to attend the National Supreme sessions of Pythian Sisters at Boston, Mass.

The convention will be at the Statler Hotel from August 10 to August 16. Mrs. Miller is Supreme Representative and will be serving on the committee for the Memorial service to be held on Sunday, August 10. She will be a flower-girl in this special service. She will also be a page. Mrs. Vanda Shaffer of Salt Lake City, Utah, is Supreme Senior. Mrs. Miller of Lonaconing will be an assistant in the installation of officers on Friday night.

Mrs. Schramm will be toastmistress at the International Grand Secretaries banquet on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Vera Mussard of Oakland will also be attending. She is a state officer.

A trip to New York on Saturday and Sunday will conclude the program. This National Supreme Session is held every two years and is attended by Pythian Sisters Supreme representatives from the United States, Alaska and Hawaii.

OES Club Meets

LONACONING — Officers Club of Martha Washington Chapter No. 10, Order of Eastern Star, met Thursday evening.

Hostesses were Mrs. Ann Foote, Mrs. Mildred Lewis, Mrs. Elsie Keyes and Mrs. Ethel Dobson. Honors were won by Mrs. Lila Mowbray, Mrs. Helen Trost, Mrs. Mary Green, Mrs. Hilda Phillips, Miss Marion Darnley and Mrs. Helen Dillon.

Couple Plans Open House On 50th Wedding

RAWLINGS — Open house will be held from 1 to 4 p. m. next Sunday, for relatives and friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Baker in observance of their golden wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Baker, the former Miss Effie Mason, daughter of the late Buckner and Clara Mason of Meadow Mountain, and Mr. Baker were united in marriage August 6, 1908 in the Lutheran parsonage at Oakland by the late Rev. Edward Manges.

Both were active members in the Assembly of God church in Garrett County and are charter members of the old Painter Church at Swanton.

The major part of their lives were spent in Swanton and vicinity until their retirement 10 years ago when they moved to Rawlings where they still reside.

Mr. Baker is a native of Grantsville where he taught school many years. He later became postmaster at Accident and prior to his retirement, was a rural carrier out of the Swanton post office for 27 years.

They are the parents of five children, Mrs. Florence Hamill, Deer Park; Mrs. Clara Fisk, Peapack, N. J.; Mrs. Gladys Syler, Waynesburg, Ohio; Daniel Baker, Washington; and James Baker, Canton, Ohio. There are also four grandchildren, Lonnie Hamill, Joan Fisk, John Syler and Bobby Baker.

Homemakers Plan Booth

MT. SAVAGE—The Mt. Savage Homemakers Club met recently in St. George's Parish Hall with Mrs. Sarah Carter, president, presiding.

Roll call was answered by seven members and one guest, Mrs. Harry Miller, Frostburg. Mrs. Howard Huff, music chairman, gave the history of the hymn of the month which was sung by the group.

Discussion of the club's plans for a booth at the Cumberland Fair followed. Mrs. Carter and Mrs. Roy Deffenbaugh will be in charge of the display.

A card party and luncheon will be held at the home of Mrs. Deffenbaugh at 12:30 p. m. August 7. The public is invited.

The club enjoyed a talk by Mrs. Harry Miller on the drying of flowers for winter bouquets. Mrs. Miller displayed several varieties of flowers and leaves and explained her methods in preserving them.

The next monthly meeting of the club will be August 21 at 1 p. m. in St. George's Hall.

Rector Vacationing

MT. SAVAGE—Sunday services at St. George's Episcopal Church during the month of August will be held at 9 a. m. Rev. Robert S. Flockhart will celebrate Holy Eucharist and preach the sermon in the absence of Rev. Lawrence C. Butler, rector. The church school will attend part of the service and will then have a class study.

Circles To Meet

FROSTBURG — A general meeting of all the circles of the English Baptist Church and any interested women will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the lower auditorium of the church.

Extinguish Fire

LONACONING—Good Will Volunteer Fire Company No. 1, Lonaconing, extinguished a fire in an auto at the home of Mrs. Viola Whiteman, Castle Hill, Wednesday at noontime.

Reunion Held

LONACONING — The Weimer family reunion was held Sunday at St. Ann's church social hall at Avilton.

Wetter Weather Is Predicted For West Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—More wet weather is in the offing for West Virginia, but it's expected to be cooler.

The Weather Bureau predicted Friday that temperatures through Wednesday would average slightly below normal for this time of year. Rain was forecast for Saturday, Sunday and possibly Monday.

The forecast said the southern end of the state probably would get the most of the rain—possibly twice as much.

The average of temperatures over the state for this time of year is a high of 85 and a low of 62.

Inquest Held In Wilt Death

KEYSER—A verdict of suicide was returned Friday at Keyser in the poisoning of Mrs. Rachel Mae Wilt, 19, of Savage River Road in Garrett County, who died last Saturday night at Potomac Valley Hospital.

Miss Madelyn Bazzle, coroner for Mineral County, said Mrs. Wilt "came to her death as the result of taking poison" while seated alone in a car at a Piedmont parking lot July 20.

When her husband, Paul Wilt, returned to the auto and found that his wife had taken rat poison he took her to a physician for treatment.

State Police said the doctor treated the young woman and advised her to go to a hospital for additional treatment. She was finally admitted to Potomac Valley four days later.

Cpl. Evan Moody of the West Virginia State Police headed the investigation.

Mt. Savage Personals

Miss Martha Reagan is in Chicago visiting Miss Ann Manning and Miss Elizabeth Manning.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams, Baltimore, are visiting Dr. and Mrs. B. O. Coberly.

Miss Ann Fannon, Washington, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Crowe.

Mrs. Raymond Twigg and daughters have returned to Cincinnati after visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. DeSales McDermitt.

Street Carnival Opens Today

PIEDMONT—The annual street carnival sponsored by Kelly-Mansfield Post 52, American Legion will be held today through next Saturday on the Tichnell lot near the fire hall of Tri-Towns Fire Company 1.

A parade will be staged Thursday evening at 7:30 p. m. The procession is expected to include Lonaconing and Oakland bands, the Keyser High School band and the Drum Corps of Fulton Meyers Post, American Legion, Cumberland.

Entertainment will include rides for the children.

Montrose FFA Member Enters Tri-State Speech Contest

ELKINS—Robert E. Poling II of Elkins Chapter FFA will compete in the Tri-State Public Speaking Contest for Future Farmers of America at Dover, Del., on August 6. The title of Robert's speech is, "Forest Fires and You." He will represent the West Virginia Association FFA in the contest since the winner, Samuel Flohr, Grafton, who won the State Contest held recently at Jackson's Mill during the Thirtieth State FFA Convention has been called to duty in the US Navy.

Robert is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Poling, RFD 1, Montrose. He graduated from Elkins High School in May 1958 where he completed three years of vocational agriculture under his teacher, Charles W. Phillips. He has been active in FFA affairs, having served as president of the chapter during the past year; was a member of the parliamentary procedure team, and won prizes in the Federation Ham, Bacon and Egg Show.

Robert will compete with winners from Delaware and Maryland for the right to participate in the North Atlantic Regional Contest at Springfield, Mass., on September 12. Winner of the regional contest will enter the National Contest during the National FFA Convention at Kansas City, Mo., October 13-16.

Frostburg Housing Authority Members Assume Offices

FROSTBURG — Commissioners of the housing authority for the City of Frostburg were sworn into office by Joseph Boden, clerk of Circuit Court at Cumberland, in the city hall last week.

Members sworn in were Thomas McMorran, Robert Lemmert, William Thomas and Leslie Fair. Rev. William Yingling, chairman, did not receive the oath of office due to being on vacation.

Moscow Needs Lighting Fund

MOSCOW — A special meeting for community citizens to discuss ways and means of raising funds for the payment of the Moscow street lights will be held Thursday, August 7, at 7:30 p. m. at McMillan's store.

Anyone interested in the keeping of the street "white-way" lighting is urged to attend as the Street Lights Association report that funds will be needed by September 2.

St. Peter's Church To Erect Bell; Picnic Planned

LONACONING—Rev. Harry E. Sheeley and family will arrive in Lonaconing this week. Father Sheeley has consented to take the services at St. Peter's while Father Leslee E. Schwindt is on vacation to Kansas.

Father Sheeley will be at the Rectory and also at Deep Creek Lake and Garrett County for his vacation trip to Western Maryland.

St. Peter's Episcopal church advisory board discussed purchasing a new furnace for the rectory.

A new large locomotive bell was recently given to St. Peter's Church. Arthur A. Fazzenbaker, James E. Snelson, Lee F. Miller and George J. Wilson will make plans for erecting the bell for tolling and ringing.

The church school teachers picnic will be held Sunday, September 7, beginning at noon. Mrs. Leslie R. Miles Jr., superintendent of the church school, is making final plans. All church school teachers and their families are invited.

The new course will be given out September 7 for the fall opening of the church school which will begin September 14.

St. Peter's church exterior will be painted in the near future.

Mark 50th Wedding Anniversary

MT. SAVAGE—Mr. and Mrs. Colin C. Bowers, State Road, observed their golden wedding anniversary here Saturday. A family dinner was held in the afternoon, followed by open house from 6 to 9 for relatives and friends.

Mrs. Bowers is the former Miss Alice L. Lynch. The couple was married in St. John's Episcopal Church, Frostburg, August 2, 1908.

They are the parents of eight children: Colin M. Bowers, Herndon, Va.; Mrs. John Orndorff, Mt. Savage; George L. Bowers, Corriganville; Mrs. Samuel Elliott, Norfolk, Va.; Joseph G. Bowers, New York; Charles E. Bowers, Rawlings; Miss Helen Bowers, Washington, and Miss Louise Bowers, at home. They also have four grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Keyser Boy Will Attend Institute

KEYSER — William Lyon, 18, of Keyser is one of 15 older 4-H farm boys from West Virginia selected to attend the annual meeting of the American Institute of Cooperation at Pennsylvania State University, August 24-27, under sponsorship of the Southern States Cooperative.

Lyon has been a member of the Agriculture 4-H Club at New Creek for seven years. He attended one older youth 4-H camp and seven county camps. This year he served as saganore of his tribe at the county camp and received his green and white award.

Lyon has been president of his club and is serving his second year as junior leader. In the past six years he completed nine projects, receiving eight blue and one red ribbon. He is carrying four projects this year: Swine, broilers, trapping and junior leadership.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. David Lyon, he is a 1958 graduate of Keyser High School and an active member of the Sunnyside Church of the Brethren.

Area Delegates Attend Pythian Convention

LONACONING — Mrs. Nellie Miller and Mrs. Sally Schramm will leave Saturday to attend the National Supreme sessions of Pythian Sisters at Boston, Mass.

The convention will be at the Statler Hotel from August 10 to August 16. Mrs. Miller is Supreme Representative and will be serving on the committee for the Memorial service to be held on Sunday, August 10. She will be a flower-girl in this special service. She will also be a page. Mrs. Vaude Shaffer of Salt Lake City, Utah, is Supreme Senior. Mrs. Miller of Lonaconing will be an assistant in the installation of officers on Friday night.

Mrs. Schramm will be toastmistress at the International Grand Secretaries banquet on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Vera Mussard of Oakland will also be attending. She is a state officer.

A trip to New York on Saturday and Sunday will conclude the program. This National Supreme Session is held every two years and is attended by Pythian Sisters Supreme representatives from the United States, Alaska and Hawaii.

LONACONING — Officers Club of Martha Washington Chapter No. 10, Order of Eastern Star, met Thursday evening.

Hostesses were Mrs. Ann Foote, Mrs. Mildred Lewis, Mrs. Elsie Keyes and Mrs. Ethel Dobson. Honors were won by Mrs. Lila Mowbray, Mrs. Helen Trost, Mrs. Mary Green, Mrs. Hilda Phillips, Miss Marion Darnley and Mrs. Helen Dillon.

Couple Plans Open House On 50th Wedding

RAWLINGS — Open house will be held from 1 to 4 p. m. next Sunday, for relatives and friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Baker in observance of their golden wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Baker, the former Miss Effie Mason, daughter of the late Buckner and Clara Mason of Meadow Mountain, and Mr. Baker were united in marriage August 6, 1908 in the Lutheran parsonage at Oakland by the late Rev. Edward Manges.

Both were active members in the Assembly of God church in Garrett County and are charter members of the old Painter Church at Swanton.

The major part of their lives were spent in Swanton and vicinity until their retirement 10 years ago when they moved to Rawlins where they still reside.

Mr. Baker is a native of Grantsville where he taught school many years. He later became postmaster at Accident and prior to his retirement, was a rural carrier out of the Swanton post office for 27 years.

They are the parents of five children, Mrs. Florence Hamill, Deer Park; Mrs. Clara Fisk, Peapack, N. J.; Mrs. Gladys Syler, Waynesburg, Ohio; Daniel Baker, Washington; and James Baker, Canton, Ohio. There are also four grandchildren, Lonnie Hamill, Joan Fisk, John Syler and Bobby Baker.

Homemakers Plan Booth

MT. SAVAGE — The Mt. Savage Homemakers Club met recently in St. George's Parish Hall with Mrs. Sarah Carter, president, presiding.

Roll call was answered by seven members and one guest, Mrs. Harry Miller, Frostburg. Mrs. Howard Huff, music chairman, gave the history of the hymn of the month which was sung by the group.

Discussion of the club's plans for a booth at the Cumberland Fair followed. Mrs. Carter and Mrs. Roy Deffenbaugh will be in charge of the display.

A card party and luncheon will be held at the home of Mrs. Deffenbaugh at 12:30 p. m. August 7. The public is invited.

The club enjoyed a talk by Mrs. Harry Miller on the drying of flowers for winter bouquets. Mrs. Miller displayed several varieties of flowers and leaves and explained her methods in preserving them.

The next monthly meeting of the club will be August 21 at 1 p. m. in St. George's Hall.

Rector Vacationing

MT. SAVAGE — Sunday services at St. George's Episcopal Church during the month of August will be held at 9 a. m. Rev. Robert S. Flockhart will celebrate Holy Eucharist and preach the sermon in the absence of Rev. Lawrence C. Butler, rector. The church school will attend part of the service and will then have a class study.

Wetter Weather Is Predicted For West Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—More wet weather is in the offing for West Virginia, but it's expected to be cooler.

The Weather Bureau predicted Friday that temperatures through Wednesday would average slightly below normal for this time of year. Rain was forecast for Saturday, Sunday and possibly Monday.

The forecast said the southern end of the state probably would get the most of the rain—possibly twice as much.

The average of temperatures over the state for this time of year is a high of 85 and a low of 62.

Inquest Held In Wilt Death

KEYSER — A verdict of suicide was returned Friday at Keyser in the poisoning of Mrs. Rachel Mae Wilt, 19, of Savage River Road in Garrett County, who died Saturday night at Potomac Valley Hospital.

Miss Madalyn Bazzle, coroner for Mineral County, said Mrs. Wilt "came to her death as the result of taking poison" while seated alone in a car at a Piedmont parking lot July 20.

When her husband, Paul Wilt, returned to the auto and found that his wife had taken rat poison he took her to a physician for treatment.

State Police said the doctor treated the young woman and advised her to go to a hospital for additional treatment. She was finally admitted to Potomac Valley four days later.

Cpl. Evan Moody of the West Virginia State Police headed the investigation.

Mt. Savage Personals

Miss Martha Reagan is in Chicago visiting Miss Ann Manning and Miss Elizabeth Manning. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams, Baltimore, are visiting Dr. and Mrs. B. O. Coberly.

Miss Ann Fannon, Washington, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Crowe.

●An Easier Problem For The Scientists

While heads of state are discussing the possibilities of a summit conference a group of scientists from several countries reports progress in its discussions at Geneva on ways to detect atomic explosions.

They have reached agreement on three ways in which to discover such blasts: seismic recording, the collection of radioactive debris and acoustical registration of sound waves.

The most valuable of these methods is seismic recording because it would enable observers to detect underground blasts which are the sort most likely to be used by nations seeking to engage in secret tests. There is, however, one objection.

Seismologists are uncertain whether they could, in fact, detect explosions deep down below the earth's surface, and even if they could, they would not be certain whether these were earth tremors from an earthquake or tremors due to atomic blasts.

Evidently the scientists' talks around a table in Switzerland have been more successful than other talks by politicians and national leaders in the realm of international affairs, but then the problems are different.

The scientists seek only to agree on mechanical methods of detection, with which all are familiar. They are not concerned about over-all policies which will be needed to put into effect any or all of their recommendations.

The supreme problems of the nuclear weapon remain—its manufacture, use, control or absolute prohibition. There is always the possibility that some nation could produce such a weapon which could be tested without leaving any signs for detection. This opens a new approach to nuclear weapons. If this is so all the detection in the world will have no meaning.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Millionaires

It used to be that a candidate for public office boasted that he was born in a log cabin or a shanty or something like that, that his mother took in washing and died at an early age of a broken heart because his father deserted her and her 10 children. Or, he boasted that he was a common man, despised special privilege and never saw the inside of such a place as the Colony Restaurant. Or that he was a self-made man, who pulled himself upward and onward by his bootstraps and owed nothing to nobody.

Times have changed and wealth has lost its luster. It looks as though three millionaires will be running for Governor of the State of New York this fall, all of the products of inherited wealth.

The Democratic candidate will, of course, be Averell Harriman whose father created the largest Western railroad empire and who produced many millions of dollars for himself and his heirs. The elder Harriman was a Republican, as most rich men were at the beginning of this century. So was Averell, but he turned with the New Deal and became a very useful adjunct of the Roosevelt and subsequently the Truman Administrations. No one expected him to be elected Governor, but he was chosen by a smallish vote. He now runs for re-election and the best political guessers have it that he will be re-elected. If Jim Farley is his running mate, he cannot lose.

The Republicans plan to nominate Nelson Rockefeller, the political activist of the five Rockefeller Brothers. John D. Rockefeller, Jr.'s five sons have many diverse characteristics. John D. Rockefeller III is a modest, quiet businessman who devotes himself to family charities and civic affairs. He is one of the creators of the Lincoln Square project which is likely to give New York an art center such as no city in the world possesses. Laurance Rockefeller is in the business; David Rockefeller is downtown in the family bank, the Chase-Manhattan Bank; Winthrop is out in Arkansas, living the good life of a rancher and farmer after a short spell of playboy in New York; Nelson is the politician.

Nelson Rockefeller has served in the Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower Administrations in many different kinds of positions, not always with glory but with adequate bureaucratic competence. His emergence as a New York State politician, a candidate for elective office is undoubtedly a prelude, should he be elected, for still higher ambitions. He brings to New York State's weakened Republican Party two valuable assets, money and organizational skill of a high order.

The third millionaire and inheritor of wealth is Corliss Lamont, son of Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan & Company. Corliss Lamont has often been accused of being a Communist Party member, but this he has always denied. At one time the State Department refused to grant him a passport, but now, due to Supreme Court decisions, he has a passport. He has taught at Columbia University; he is the author of several books, none of which have shaken the world. He has been active in Left-Wing Movements.

His present candidacy is with a revived United Front Socialist group, called the United Independent Socialist Movement, which may get as much as 100,000 votes. Whatever this party gets is likely to be taken from the Democrats and will benefit Rockefeller because Socialists usually vote for the Liberal Party which generally endorses Democrats.

Corliss Lamont's father, Tom, although a banker, heading, at one time, America's principal financial institution, was, in reality, an egg-head out of Harvard, an intellectual and an aesthete. He started life as a newspaperman and art critic, studied law and entered the House of Morgan. His mind was brilliant, but his spirit was cynical.

The New Deal, I think, offended his sense of history, for it was a retreat from the fundamentals of a free society. Corliss Lamont grew up in a liberal atmosphere in which the ideas of Walter Lippman and Norman Thomas were quite influential. He is more aggressive and pugnacious than his father, but possesses less charm and no cynicism. He will be an amusing candidate for a lost cause because he will speak up freely, attacking both candidates and undoubtedly supporting Khrushchev's foreign policy for the United States.

So we shall have these three millionaires vying for the Governorship. It is an Horatio Alger dream come true.

Administration Shuns Realities Of War Danger

By Joseph Alsop

It is now the Eisenhower administration's policy to permit the Kremlin to gain an overwhelming superiority of nuclear striking power in the next five years. This is the true, though unadmitted, response to the warning of the Sputniks.

The terrible facts that support the foregoing terrible charge have already been printed in this space. These facts in turn quite obviously pose a further question. How can the Administration possibly be pursuing such a policy, eight months after the Sputniks' clear warning?

All sorts of extraneous factors enter into the answer. The most important, certainly, is the capture of the President's mind by former Secretary of the Treasury George Magoffin Humphrey. Humphrey taught Eisenhower to fear loose or burdensome fiscal measures more than he fears the armed might of the Kremlin.

But no President could cling to this system of priority—not even a President so protected from the terrible facts as Dwight D. Eisenhower—if he did not have some veil of military argument to cast over the hideous reality. The veil currently being used is the theory of "overkill." This theory has been put forward by the Army and Navy, in order to protect their own appropriations from the competition of the needed vast expenditures to strengthen our nuclear deterrent.

What then is this theory of "overkill"? In essence it is the argument that you do not need the power to "overkill," if you already have H-bombs and the means to deliver them in quantities sufficient to destroy the Soviet Union.

Being childishly simple, it sounds convincing. This is nonsense, all the same, because it slurs over the operational realities and altogether ignores the political-psychological realities. The operational realities may be summarized as follows:

First, the Kremlin is not deterred from attacking the United States by any simple computation of American nuclear striking power. In particular, the Kremlin is continuously computing how much American nuclear striking power will probably survive a first blow by Soviet nuclear striking power. This part of our striking power that will survive the first blow is the true and only deterrent.

As the balance tilts towards unchallengeable Soviet superiority during the next five years, the part of our striking power that will survive a first blow must also diminish. This rate by which our true and only deterrent will weaken is affected by many special factors. Ever since the Sputniks, for example, the Strategic Air Command has kept one-third of its aircraft either in the air or on fifteen-minute alerts, in order to make sure that at least a third of its strength will survive a first blow by the Soviets.

But this survival-force cannot strike back without the complexly coordinated support of the air-tanker fleet. It will surely be disorganized by the effect of the first blow on SAC's nerve cen-

ties and altogether ignores the political-psychological realities. The operational realities may be summarized as follows:

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Did you ever stop to think the Los Bums wouldn't be in trouble if Campanella hadn't been hurt? Or can you think without stopping?

If you think I'm smoking the top half of a Vanguard how about the examples, of individual stars? They don't have to be Musials or Williamses.

For direct impact on standings and admissions let's take little Bobby Shantz. Just about knee-high to an animal cracker but he could chuck a lamb chop past a wolf.

When the kid had his wrist broken by an inside pitch he was through for a year. And that season the A's dropped 300,000 attendance. Next year they were in Kansas City.

Do you think the A's paid Bob by anything commensurate with those 300,000 tickets? My hat and coat, James, I'm getting both halves of a Dutch door.

With Campanella in shape the Los Bums would be playing night ball in Chavez Canyon. With the lights on top of oil derricks.

With Campy playing the Los Bums would be sweethearts of the western world. With vine leaves in their hair and the glorious scent of victory in their kisser.

Nothing would be too good for them. Nothing seems to be what they're getting.

Chafing And Other Summer Skin Problems

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Prickly heat and chafing are the most common summer rashes. They are avoided by keeping the skin clean, dry, and cool. This may not be easy, especially for those who live and work in hot, humid areas. Fans, air conditioning and light and porous clothing are the best preventatives.

Babies develop prickly heat during the summer when over-dressed by day and covered with blankets at night. Infants are more susceptible than grownups because their skin is thin and tender. But adults are not immune, particularly workers in the tropics or other hot environments.

Prickly heat is a red rash resembling goose flesh. It is most common on the back, chest, and buttocks; the palms, soles, and face usually escape. Each tiny mound represents a sweat gland that has been overworked or plugged by dead skin, dirt, and other debris. Sweat is retained and the gland may be so fatigued it refuses to work.

Chafing is different. It is a red and mildly painful rash that favors areas between folds of skin. In some instances, the parts become so irritated a discharge, fissures, or abrasions will occur. This skin irritation stems from a combination of heat, moisture, lack of ventilation, and rubbing together of two surfaces.

The obese suffer most, especially in the armpits, groins, buttocks, and on the skin between fingers and toes. Moisture invites ringworm or other infection. The problem is solved by keeping the skin clean, dry, and as well ventilated as possible by wearing loose, lightweight garments. The parts should be washed thoroughly, rinsed in cool water, and dried daily—or oftener. Both of these rashes are benefited by the use of talcum powder.

(Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflets on prickly heat and chafing.)

CALCULUS

Mrs. G. writes: My husband has had a kidney stone removed. Does this mean he cannot drink milk?

REPLY

Milk and cheese usually are omitted from the diet in patients who have had stones containing calcium phosphate. A daily dose of aspirin also has been recommended as a preventive measure.

IRRITATED STOMACH

R. W. writes: What is meant by hypertrophic gastritis?

Schenley Lobbyist Offers Campaign Funds In Return For Tax Changes

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — If Congress ever should investigate itself, which isn't likely, it would find a very smelly lobby behind the whisky tax fight, now taking place back-stage in Congress. It would probably find some very big campaign contributions being offered to certain Congressmen.

The battle is chiefly between the two biggest whisky distillers in the world—Schenley and Seagrams. Schenley doesn't want to pay taxes now on the huge amount of whisky it distilled during the Korean war. It wants to be able to postpone the tax up to 20 years or to whatever time it sells the whisky. Seagrams sees no reason why Schenley should get retroactive tax treatment by act of Congress.

However, Schenley lobbyists have been able to persuade most members of the Senate Finance Committee and the House Ways and Means Committee that the Schenley-backed tax amendment should pass.

Here is one way Schenley lobbyists have operated:

Ex-Congressman Frank "Sunny" Sundstrom of New Jersey, now vice president of Schenley, came in to see Sen. George Smathers, Florida Democrat, to ask him to vote for the Schenley amendment. Smathers had received some mail from Florida liquor dealers and agreed. Three days later, Sundstrom came in again and suggested pointedly that he would like to contribute to the Democratic Senate Campaign Committee which Smathers heads.

This was too much for Smathers. "Under the circumstances I don't care to discuss the matter," he told the Schenley lobbyist.

Sundstrom then inquired about contributing to individual Senators.

"That is up to you and the Senators," replied Smathers. "I can't advise you on that."

The Schenley amendment will come up for a vote in the next 24 hours. It will be interesting for the voters back home to examine the campaign records later and see how much money was given to certain key Senators and Congressmen.

GOP Adopts Nasserism

The Republicans have developed a new technique for knocking out key Democrats, which the Democrats call "Nasserism." It's the technique dictator Nasser has used in Lebanon, Saudi Arabia and Iraq — boring from within.

If the Republicans find they can't defeat an important Democrat in a straight election, they put a candidate in the Democratic primary to run as a Republican. This is what happened when William "Cowboy" Blakely, the Eisenhower Democrat, ran against Sen. Ralph Yarborough and lost. This week it's happening in Tennessee, where Republicans are putting up all sorts of money to try to defeat young, moderate Sen. Albert Gore.

Gore had the courage to take some tough positions. He has fought for reciprocal trade, which a fellow Tennessean, Cordell Hull, pioneered as Secretary of State. He also balked at signing the southern manifesto. As a result, Dixiecrats, high-tariff Republicans, and the big insurance companies have been flooding Tennessee with money, full-page ads, expensive billboards to defeat Gore in the Democratic primary. It looks, however, as if the people of Tennessee lean toward the Senator with less money more than toward his opponent with a lot of money.

Paddy made it look good. He always did. He could rob his mother and make her think that he was protecting her from burglars. He was short and he had a figure like humpty-dumpty. There were two small blue agates which served as eyes and a bolt of wavy gray on the top of his head. He smoked cigars like a defeated politician.

He spent his evenings in Sandy's Bar off the Bowery. Always he was scheming; always his schemes came back to smack him flush on the mouth. The one I remember best concerned the Indian. He wasn't an Indian, really. He just looked like one; like a brave who has lost his feathers. His name, they said, was Nussbaum, but I don't know.

The Indian was an alcoholic. He knocked off three quarts of 40-cent sherry a day and he had been walking on a bias so long that the only time he straightened up was when he was on a hill. The thing he had in common with Paddy was that neither of them, at this time, had a family.

The Indian had been on a bat since Coolidge. He talked blurry when he was sober and, quite often, the boys had to throw a few belts into him to understand what he was talking about. Paddy threw a friendly arm around the Indian and had an idea. He would insure the Indian for $5,000, and then kill him.

He got the idea around Thanksgiving. For a week, Paddy cultivated the Indian. It took that long to become undying buddies. Paddy bought the sherry day after day and he suggested one night that they insure each other for $5,000. The Indian thought it was a nutty notion.

"Who," he said, "would insure me? I tried to will my liver to a medical school and they wouldn't take it."

Paddy looked sad. "There are lots of places where we can get a one G premium without an examination. All we have to do is find five companies. I just thought it would be nice if you had enough to have a drink over my grave."

The Indian looked at Paddy. Paddy didn't look well. So they shook hands and Paddy did the work. He got the policies. He wanted insurance on himself, with the Indian as beneficiary, so

Nasserism in Missouri

Out in Missouri, Republicans are trying to Nasserize another Democrat, Congressman Morgan Moulder of Camden. Moulder is the former chairman of the Legislative Oversight Committee who started the investigation of Sherman Adams and Goldfine, Commissioner Mack of the FCC, Channel 10 in Miami, Channel 5 in Boston. When his committee insisted on firing his counsel, Bernard Schwartz, Moulder stepped down as chairman.

Since then every investigation Moulder started has been substantiated. The result has been one of the most important probes of the year.

Ordinarily Congressman Moulder has no Democratic opposition. But this year Republicans are urging Republicans to pull a Nasser and back Robert C. Smith, public utility lawyer, against Moulder in the Democratic primary.

Adams vs. Vaughan

During the Korean war Smith pulled what's now called a "Sherman Adams" to get himself out of the field artillery. Amiable Harry Vaughan was the Sherman Adams of the Truman administration, and Smith, a reserve field artillery lieutenant, wanted to transfer to the noncombat Army Legal Division. The Army needed artillerymen, not lawyers. But Smith got a Missouri friend of Vaughan's, William H. Becker, to write Vaughan.

Vaughan was just as efficient as Sherman Adams. He dispatched a White House memo to the Adjutant General's office demanding "action" on young Smith's case. Action was what he got. Smith was just out of the University of Missouri Law School. But his application was lifted out of normal channels and an official letter rushed to 5th Army Headquarters in Chicago. Dated August 15, 1950, the letter set a deadline of August 31 for the 5th Army to reply.

However, when this column published the text of the letter on August 25, the Pentagon got worried and Harry Vaughan's efforts for young Smith were nullified.

that nobody could say that he had framed his friend.

To make the thing click, Paddy had to go out and find a job. He needed money for the premiums and he needed money to keep the Indian happily boozed. Paddy despised work, but he kept his job. Every night, he fed cheap alcohol—sometimes wood alcohol—to his bosom buddy. They drank themselves numb.

Nothing happened. The Indian began to look better. Winter came and Paddy got the Indian drunk one night and tossed him into a snowbank. He slept in it. He got up yawning and blue. Paddy got his friend unconscious drunk one freezing night and dumped him in an alley and poured ice water on him.

The Indian, sadly, never got close to the happy hunting ground. He couldn't catch a cold. One night Paddy remained sober and got the Indian loaded and pretended to stagger, pushing the Indian in front of a truck. The truck went over the Indian without touching him and the friends almost got arrested for being public nuisances.

The following April Paddy was beginning to get sick just looking at the Indian. The third quarter premiums would soon fall due and the problem of getting the Indian drunk was becoming more expensive because the Brave had heard that the cheap sherry was bad for the ticker and he would drink nothing but the ten cent rye.

Paddy slept little. He was always waking up in the middle of the night screaming. He became thinner and thinner. He wanted to eat well, but he didn't have the money. He wanted to try a little powdered glass in the Indian's shotglass, but he was afraid that it might be detected.

One afternoon, shortly after the baseball season opened, Paddy fell while working. They took him to Bellevue. He was bleeding internally from ulcers. The Indian offered a pint of blood, but he was turned down. In eight days, Paddy was gone.

The Indian showed his policy and buried Paddy. At the grave, out in Brooklyn, he broke down and cried. One of the boys asked why the tears.

"Because," said the Indian, "he was my friend. My true friend."

•An Easier Problem For The Scientists

While heads of state are discussing the possibilities of a summit conference a group of scientists from several countries reports progress in its discussions at Geneva on ways to detect atomic explosions.

They have reached agreement on three ways in which to discover such blasts: seismic recording, the collection of radioactive debris and acoustical registration of sound waves.

The most valuable of these methods is seismic recording because it would enable observers to detect underground blasts which are the sort most likely to be used by nations seeking to engage in secret tests. There is, however, one objection.

Seismologists are uncertain whether they could, in fact, detect explosions deep down below the earth's surface, and even if they could, they would not be certain whether these were earth tremors from an earthquake or tremors due to atomic blasts.

Evidently the scientists' talks around a table in Switzerland have been more successful than other talks by politicians and national leaders in the realm of international affairs, but then the problems are different.

The scientists seek only to agree on mechanical methods of detection, with which all are familiar. They are not concerned about over-all policies which will be needed to put into effect any or all of their recommendations.

The supreme problems of the nuclear weapon remain—its manufacture, use, control or absolute prohibition. There is always the possibility that some nation could produce such a weapon which could be tested without leaving any signs for detection. This opens a new approach to nuclear weapons. If this is so all the detection in the world will have no meaning.

These Days

The Millionaires

It used to be that a candidate for public office boasted that he was born in a log cabin or a shanty or something like that, that his mother took in washing and died at an early age of a broken heart because his father deserted her and her 10 children. Or, he boasted that he was a common man, despised special privilege and never saw the inside of such a place as the Colony Restaurant. Or that he was a self-made man, who pulled himself upward and onward by his bootstraps and owed nothing to nobody.

Times have changed and wealth has lost its luster. It looks as though three millionaires will be running for Governor of the State of New York this fall, all of the products of inherited wealth.

The Democratic candidate will, of course, be Averell Harriman whose father created the largest Western railroad empire and who produced many millions of dollars for himself and his heirs. The elder Harriman was a Republican, as most rich men were at the beginning of this century. So was Averell, but he turned with the New Deal and became a very useful adjunct of the Roosevelt and subsequently the Truman Administrations. No one expected him to be elected Governor, but he was chosen by a smallish vote. He now runs for re-election and the best political guessers have it that he will be re-elected. If Jim Farley is his running mate, he cannot lose.

The Republicans plan to nominate Nelson Rockefeller, the political activist of the five Rockefeller Brothers. John D. Rockefeller, Jr.'s five sons have many diverse characteristics. John D. Rockefeller III is a modest, quiet businessman who devotes himself to family charities and civic affairs. He is one of the creators of the Lincoln Square project which is likely to give New York an art center such as no city in the world possesses. Laurence Rockefeller is in the business; David Rockefeller is downtown in the family bank, the Chase-Manhattan Bank; Winthrop is out in Arkansas, living the good life of a rancher and farmer after a short spell of playboy in New York; Nelson is the politician.

Nelson Rockefeller has served in the Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower Administrations in many different kinds of positions, not always with glory but with adequate bureaucratic competence. His emergence as a New York State politician, a candidate for elective office is undoubtedly a prelude, should he be elected, for still higher ambitions. He brings to New York State's weakened Republican Party two valuable assets, money and organizational skill of a high order.

The third millionaire and inheritor of wealth is Corliss Lamont, son of Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan & Company. Corliss Lamont has often been accused of being a Communist Party member, but this he has always denied. At one time the State Department refused to grant him a passport, but now, due to Supreme Court decisions, he has a passport. He has taught at Columbia University; he is the author of several books, none of which have shaken the world. He has been active in Left-Wing Movements.

His present candidacy is with a revived United Front Socialist group, called the United Independent Socialist Movement, which may get as much as 100,000 votes. Whatever this party gets is likely to be taken from the Democrats and will benefit Rockefeller because Socialists usually vote for the Liberal Party which generally endorses Democrats.

Corliss Lamont's father, Tom, although a banker, heading, at one time, America's principal financial institution, was, in reality, an egg-head out of Harvard, an intellectual and an aesthete. He started life as a newspaperman and art critic, studied law and entered the House of Morgan. His mind was brilliant, but his spirit was cynical.

The New Deal, I think, offended his sense of history, for it was a retreat from the fundamentals of a free society. Corliss Lamont grew up in a liberal atmosphere in which the ideas of Walter Lippman and Norman Thomas were quite influential. He is more aggressive and pugnacious than his father, but possesses less charm and no cynicism. He will be an amusing candidate for a lost cause because he will speak up freely, attacking both candidates and undoubtedly supporting Khrushchev's foreign policy for the United States.

So we shall have these three millionaires vying for the Governorship. It is an Horatio Alger dream come true.

'I Admit — It Needs Some Working On'

Administration Shuns Realities Of War Danger

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

It is now the Eisenhower administration's policy to permit the Kremlin to gain an overwhelming superiority of nuclear striking power in the next five years. This is the true, though unadmitted, response to the warning of the Sputniks.

The terrible facts that support the foregoing terrible charge have already been printed in this space. These facts in turn quite obviously pose a further question. How can the Administration possibly be pursuing such a policy, eight months after the Sputniks' clear warning?

All sorts of extraneous factors enter into the answer. The most important, certainly, is the capture of the President's mind by former Secretary of the Treasury George Magoffin Humphrey. Humphrey taught Eisenhower to fear loose or burdensome fiscal measures more than he fears the armed might of the Kremlin.

But no President could cling to this system of priority—not even a President so protected from the terrible facts as Dwight D. Eisenhower—if he did not have some veil of military argument to cast over the hideous reality. The veil currently being used is the theory of "overkill." This theory has been put forward by the Army and Navy, in order to protect their own appropriations from the competition of the needed vast expenditures to strengthen our nuclear deterrent.

What then is this theory of "overkill?" In essence it is the argument that you do not need the power to "overkill," if you already have H-bombs and the means to deliver them in quantities sufficient to destroy the Soviet Union.

Being childishly simple, it sounds convincing. This is nonsense, all the same, because it slurs over the operational realities and altogether ignores the political-psychological realities. The operational realities may be summarized as follows:

First, the Kremlin is not deterred from attacking the United States by any simple computation of American nuclear striking power. In particular, the Kremlin is continuously computing how much American nuclear striking power will probably survive a first blow by Soviet nuclear striking power. This part of our striking power that will survive the first blow is the true and only deterrent.

As the balance tilts towards unchallengeable Soviet superiority during the next five years, the part of our striking power that will survive a first blow must also diminish. This rate by which our true and only deterrent will weaken is affected by many special factors. Ever since the Sputniks, for example, the Strategic Air Command has kept one-third of its aircraft either in the air or on fifteen-minute alerts, in order to make sure that at least a third of its strength will survive a first blow by the Soviets.

But this survival-force cannot strike back without the complexly coordinated support of the air-tanker fleet. It will surely be disorganized by the effect of the first blow on SAC's nerve cen-

When the kid had his wrist broken by an inside pitch he was through for a year. And that season the A's dropped 300,000 attendance. Next year they were in Kansas City.

Do you think the A's paid Bobby by anything commensurate with those 300,000 tickets? My hat and coat, James, I'm getting both halves of a Dutch door.

Schenley Lobbyist Offers Campaign Funds In Return For Tax Changes

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — If Congress ever should investigate itself, which isn't likely, it would find a very smelly lobby behind the whisky tax fight, now taking place back-stage in Congress. It would probably find some very big campaign contributions being offered to certain Congressmen.

The battle is chiefly between the two biggest whisky distillers in the world—Schenley and Seagrams. Schenley doesn't want to pay taxes now on the huge amount of whisky it distilled during the Korean war. It wants to be able to postpone the tax up to 20 years or to whatever time it sells the whisky. Seagrams sees no reason why Schenley should get retroactive tax treatment by act of Congress.

However, Schenley lobbyists have been able to persuade most members of the Senate Finance Committee and the House Ways and Means Committee that the Schenley-backed tax amendment should pass.

Here is one way Schenley lobbyists have operated: Ex-Congressman Frank "Sunny" Sundstrom of New Jersey, now vice president of Schenley, came in to see Sen. George Smathers, Florida Democrat, to ask him to vote for the Schenley amendment. Smathers had received some mail from Florida liquor dealers and agreed. Three days later, Sundstrom came in again and suggested pointedly that he would like to contribute to the Democratic Senate Campaign Committee which Smathers heads. This was too much for Smathers. "Under the circumstances I don't care to discuss the matter," he told the Schenley lobbyist.

Sundstrom then inquired about contributing to individual Senators. "That is up to you and the Senators," replied Smathers. "I can't advise you on that."

The Schenley amendment will come up for a vote in the next 24 hours. It will be interesting for the voters back home to examine the campaign records later and see how much money was given to certain key Senators and Congressmen.

GOP Adopts Nasserism The Republicans have developed a new technique for knocking out key Democrats, which the Democrats call "Nasserism." It's the technique dictator Nasser has used in Lebanon, Saudi Arabia and Iraq — boring from within.

If the Republicans find they can't defeat an important Democrat in a straight election, they put a candidate in the Democratic primary to run as a Republican. This is what happened when William "Cowboy" Blakely, the Eisenhower Democrat, ran against Sen. Ralph Yarborough and lost. This week it's happening in Tennessee, where Republicans are putting up all sorts of money to try to defeat young, moderate Sen. Albert Gore.

Gore had the courage to take some tough positions. He has fought for reciprocal trade, which a fellow Tennessean, Cordell Hull, pioneered as Secretary of State. He also balked at signing the southern manifesto. As a result, Dixiecrats, high-tariff Republicans, and the big insurance companies have been flooding Tennessee with money, full-page ads, expensive billboards to defeat Gore in the Democratic primary. It looks, however, as if the people of Tennessee lean toward the Senator with less money more than toward his opponent with a lot of money.

Paddy made it look good. He always did. He could rob his mother and make her think that he was protecting her from burglars. He was short and he had a figure like humpty-dumpty. There were two small blue agates which served as eyes and a bolt of wavy gray on the top of his head. He smoked cigars like a defeated politician.

Chafing And Other Summer Skin Problems

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Prickly heat and chafing are the most common summer rashes. They are avoided by keeping the skin clean, dry, and cool. This may not be easy, especially for those who live and work in hot, humid areas. Fans, air conditioning and light and porous clothing are the best preventatives.

Babies develop prickly heat during the summer when over-dressed by day and covered with blankets at night. Infants are more susceptible than grownups because their skin is thin and tender. But adults are not immune, particularly workers in the tropics or other hot environments.

Prickly heat is a red rash resembling goose flesh. It is most common on the back, chest, and buttocks; the palms, soles, and face usually escape. Each tiny mound represents a sweat gland that has been overworked or plugged by dead skin, dirt, and other debris. Sweat is retained and the gland may be so fatigued it refuses to work.

Chafing is different. It is a red and mildly painful rash that favors areas between folds of skin. In some instances, the parts become so irritated a discharge, fissures, or abrasions will occur. This skin irritation stems from a combination of heat, moisture, lack of ventilation, and rubbing together of two surfaces.

The obese suffer most, especially in the armpits, groins, buttocks, and on the skin between fingers and toes. Moisture invites ringworm or other infection. The problem is solved by keeping the skin clean, dry, and as well ventilated as possible by wearing loose, lightweight garments. The parts should be washed thoroughly, rinsed in cool water, and dried daily—or oftener. Both of these rashes are benefited by the use of talcum powder.

(Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflets on prickly heat and chafing.)

TOMORROW: Strong feet.

CALCIUM CALCULUS

Mrs. G. writes: My husband has had a kidney stone removed. Does this mean he cannot drink milk?

REPLY

Milk and cheese usually are omitted from the diet in patients who have had stones containing calcium phosphate. A daily dose of aspirin also has been recommended as a preventive measure.

IRRITATED STOMACH

R. W. writes: What is meant by hypertrophic gastritis?

REPLY

In this condition, the lining of the stomach is thickened and the folds are congested and more prominent. Indigestion may be present. Diagnosis is made by inserting a gastroscope into the stomach to see what the inside looks like.

RHEUMATIC FEVER

F. H. writes: Could rheumatic fever recur 20 years after the first and only attack?

REPLY

Yes. One attack of this disease does not confer immunity; if anything, it makes the individual susceptible to recurrences. This is more likely to occur in childhood; second attacks 20 years later are unusual. Send a stamped, addressed envelope for our leaflet on rheumatic fever.

BLOOD AND RHEUMATISM

S. W. writes: Can a person have rheumatism of the blood?

REPLY

No, but when a rheumatoid state affects muscles and joints, certain changes occur in the blood that are looked for in testing for this condition. Tests include the sedimentation rate and the rheumatoid factor.

RUBBER GLOVES

Mrs. R. W. writes: Is it harmful to skin of the hands to work with rubber gloves on eight hours a day?

REPLY

Trial and error will answer this question. As a rule, it is less harmful than subjecting the skin to powerful irritants.

RUPTURED ULCER

H.D. writes: What makes an ulcer perforate?

REPLY

Ulcers are craters and when they grow deeper are likely to break through or perforate the wall of the stomach or duodenum. As a result, acid leaks into the abdominal cavity and produces a chemical peritonitis. Perforation may be the first sign of ulcer. In other instances, perforation occurs because of dietary neglect or lack of treatment.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual cases.

Legion Series Finishes Shifts To Frederick On Wednesday

Richards Is Hurler For Third Game

Sunday Tilt Rained Out; Teams Divided Saturday Dual Bill

Rain washed out the "rubber" game of the series between the American Legion junior baseball teams of Frederick and Cumberland yesterday at St. Louis and ended on Sunday. The Cumberland-Frederick victor will play in the tournament opener on Thursday at 10 a. m.

The winner of the game at Frederick will go to College Park on Wednesday evening for the Maryland Department championship event which gets under way Thursday and ends on Sunday. The Cumberland-Frederick victor will play in the tournament opener on Thursday at 10 a. m.

A meeting of the Fort Cumberland Post No. 13 team was called for today at 7 p. m., at the Legion Home to make plans for the trip to Frederick. The local team is scheduled to leave on Wednesday at 8 a. m.

Richards To Pitch

George E. Ziegler, manager of the Cumberland team, last night indicated that Dave Richards, of Carlos, who tossed a one-hitter and struck out 17 to beat Frederick by the score of 2-1 in the opening game of Saturday's twin bill at St. Louis, will pitch against Francis Scott Key Post on Wednesday.

Richards, who turned in a 5-5 record for Beall High School this year, had a three-year mark of 8-10 in the Allegheny County Interscholastic League and led the circuit with 123 strikeouts in 70 innings, was in rare form Saturday and the only hit he yielded was credited to Donnie Keller, who slammed a triple in the third inning.

Dave got off to a bad start by walking the first three men to face him. He then fanned the side. Nine of his victims watched the third strike go by.

Locals Get 10 Hits

Cumberland solved the offerings of Thomas "Tinker" Michael for 10 safeties, six of which were shared by Rich Murray, Ray Garlitz and Gary Wolford.

Donnie Lewis scored Cumberland's first run in the eighth when he got a life on an error and completed the circuit on hits by Murray and Garlitz. Frederick tied the score in the top of the ninth with the help of two Cumberland errors.

Wes Broadwater's squeeze bunt with the bases loaded decided the game in the last of the ninth. The winning blow came after Wolford singled, Reggie Lennox was hit by a pitched ball and Leroy Morris hit safely to set the stage for Broadwater's bunt.

Frederick Wins 8-3

Each team collected 13 hits in the nine-inning nightcap which Frederick won by the score of 8-3. Ronnie Engle went the route for the Western Maryland District League champions while Jimmy Peters, Jack Lowery and Johnny Hinds worked on the mound for the home team. Peters tossed the first 4 1/2 innings yielded 8 of the 13 hits, and was tagged with the loss.

Donnie Keller, son of Charley Keller, one-time New York Yankee slugger, was the "big gun" for Frederick with four hits—a triple, double and two singles. Tommy Moss three hits for Frederick as did Garlitz, local second baseman.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates completed a 32-inning whitewash job on the St. Louis Cardinals Sunday, tripping the hapless Redbirds 2-0 in the first game of a scheduled double-header and registering a 2-0 lead with two out in the fifth inning of the nightcap before the Pennsylvania curfew halted play.

St. Louis, dropping to last place in the National League, was unable to score a single run in the three and one-half games of the series.

Pittsburgh won 2-0 Friday night and 1-0 Saturday and Sunday moved into a challenging position for a four-game series opening at Milwaukee Monday night.

Veteran right-hander Bob Friend scored his 14th win of the season in the opener, a steady 9-hit performance that got a substantial lift from three double plays executed despite the rain-soaked field.

Rookie George Witt was the master of the Cards in the nightcap right up to the 7 p. m. curfew. He had six strikeouts to his credit.

Yankees Held To Single Run In Double Loss

Donovan and Moore Post 3-1, 4-0 Wins

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox temporarily sidetracked the New York Yankee pennant rush Sunday by whipping the American League champions, 3-1 and 4-0, behind the superb pitching of right-handers Dick Donovan and Ray Moore.

Donovan limited the Bombers to three hits in the opener and Moore blanked them on a yield of five safeties in the second game. It was Moore's third victory over the Yankees without defeat and the second time in which he has shut them out.

For the Yankees, it was their fifth double loss this season and their tremendous league lead to 15 1/2 games.

Moore was in command all the way as the Sox jumped on starter Johnny Kucks for two runs on four singles in the first inning and added another run at the expense of reliever Bobby Shantz in a second inning of three singles.

New York's only run of the day came in the second inning of the opener when Bill Skovron pounced his 10th homer into the upper deck in left field.

Peter Collins, Noted British Auto Racer, Fatally Injured

Sports Car Driver Dies After Crash

Injured In German Grand Prix; Tony Brooks Wins Race

BONN, Germany (AP) — Peter Collins, one of the big three of British sports car racing, died Sunday night from injuries received when he crashed his Ferrari in the German Grand Prix at nearby Adenau.

Tony Brooks, 26-year-old racing driver from Glasgow, won the race over the tricky curve-studded course.

Collins, who with Stirling Moss and Mike Hawthorn formed the British big three in auto racing, suffered a fractured skull and brain injuries when his red Ferrari left the track on the 11th lap of the 15-lap race.

Dies In Helicopter

The 27-year-old driver was flown to Bonn in a German army helicopter for an operation in a desperate attempt to save his life. But a member of the Ferrari team said Collins died in the helicopter. At the clinic were American actress, Louise Cordier King, to whom Collins was married last December, and Hawthorn.

Collins was renowned for his daring performances as No. 1 driver for Ferrari, which he joined in 1956. His death came less than a month after Italian ace Luigi Musso was injured fatally in the French Grand Prix at Reims.

The death of Collins cast deep gloom over the triumph of the first all-British victory in the German Grand Prix.

Won At Sebring

Collins has been prominent in just about every sports car race for the last several years. He teamed with Phil Hill of Santa Monica, Calif., for a record-smashing victory in the 12-hour Florida Grand Prix of Endurance at Sebring, Fla., last March.

Brooks drove a British-made Vanwall to victory over the 22.8-kilometer course with 176 trick curves. His time for the 342 kilometers (212.6 miles) was two hours, 21 minutes and 15 seconds. Roy Salvadori of Britain was second in a Cooper. Maurice Trintignant of France, in another Cooper was third.

Gaston Mullegg, 68, Rowing Federation President, Killed

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — Gaston Mullegg, 68, Swiss president of the International Rowing Federation, crashed in his private plane into a home for the aged Sunday and was killed.

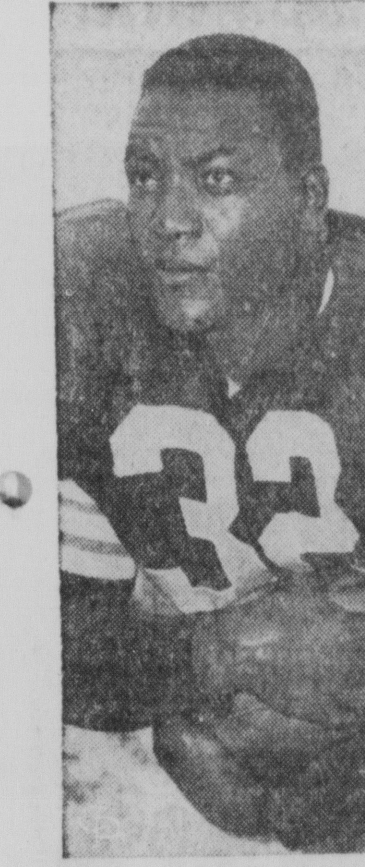

Two French industrialists, Jean Mery, 50, and Louis Patricot, 53, were hospitalized with serious injuries.

The plane hit the roof of the home and crashed into an empty terrace. Most of the inmates had retired into the cooler interior of the building. The plane was destroyed and the building severely damaged.

The three-seater tourist plane's single engine went dead soon after takeoff from Lausanne's airfield.

U.S. Tuna Veterans

NEW YORK (AP)—Seven veteran anglers will constitute the United States team in the 15th International Tuna Cup Match at Wedgport, N. S., Sept. 10-12. Those on the team are John W. Anderson II of Detroit, Frank E. Bivens of Long Beach, Calif., James M. Hutton III of Cincinnati, Robert Maytag of Ponte Verda, Fla., William Negley of San Antonio, Osborne Owings of Washington, D. C., and Stuart Peeler of Los Angeles. The team is the 11th selected by Kip Farrington Jr. of Easthampton, N. Y.

HE'S BACK! — Jim Brown, the National Football league's "Rookie of the Year" in 1957, is back in camp at Hiram, O., with the Cleveland Browns and raring to go. Here's latest photo of Jim. (Central Press)

Phil's Divide With Chicago
Cubs Win, 12-10, After 8-2 Defeat
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Home runs by Ernie Banks and rookie Morris Thacker paced the Chicago Cubs to a 12-10 victory over Philadelphia's Phillies in the doubleheader opener to win their 13th game.

The Cubs overcame a five-run Philadelphia first inning with four-run rallies in the fifth and seventh. Manager Eddie Sawyer threw five pitchers into the game to stifle the 13-hit Cub barrage.

Manager Bob Scheffing of the Cubs used four pitchers, including three in the ninth. Bill Henry fanned Carl Savatky to end the game with the tying runs on base and a minute to go before the Pennsylvania Sunday curfew law would suspend the game.

Dick Caffell, third Phil reliever, was tossed out in the seventh by plate umpire Al Barlick who said the pitcher made a profane remark about his vision.

Banks fifth inning homer, his 30th, scored three runs and put the Cubs ahead 6-5, a lead they never lost.

Five runs in the third inning of the first game enabled Semproch to ease through by scattering six hits. Cub rookie Lou Jackson hit a pinchhit homer with a man on for Chicago's runs.

Red Sox Trim Indians Twice
Snap Losing Streak With 3-2, 4-2 Wins
CLEVELAND (AP) — Boston broke out of its five-game losing slump Sunday with a doubleheader sweep over the Cleveland Indians 3-2 and 4-2.

Ted Williams' two-run homer in the ninth inning won the opener. Pete Runnels' two-run double featured a four-run eighth inning rally in the nightcap.

The Red Sox also ended Cleveland's seven-game winning string with the sudden burst of hitting power.

Gary Bell was sailing along with a three-hitter and a 2-1 lead until Runnels opened the ninth with a single and Williams followed with his 18th homer, a mighty shot which sailed into the upper right field stands.

In the nightcap, Ray Narleski had a four-hit shutout until Boston got hot with six hits. Sammy White started the winning rally with a single past shortstop. Don Buddin also singled and Runnels knocked both home with a double to left.

Hoyt Wilhelm replaced Narleski and gave up a single to Marty Keough. Runnels scored when centerfielder Woody Held bobbled Keough's hit. Frank Malzone knocked in the final run with a pop single to right. Jackie Jensen also singled, but was picked off first to retire the side.

The Indians were held to 10 hits in the two games—only four in the opener.

Phils Divide With Chicago

Cubs Win, 12-10, After 8-2 Defeat

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Home runs by Ernie Banks and rookie Morris Thacker paced the Chicago Cubs to a 12-10 victory over Philadelphia's Phillies in the doubleheader opener to win their 13th game.

The Cubs overcame a five-run Philadelphia first inning with four-run rallies in the fifth and seventh. Manager Eddie Sawyer threw five pitchers into the game to stifle the 13-hit Cub barrage.

Manager Bob Scheffing of the Cubs used four pitchers, including three in the ninth. Bill Henry fanned Carl Savatky to end the game with the tying runs on base and a minute to go before the Pennsylvania Sunday curfew law would suspend the game.

Dick Caffell, third Phil reliever, was tossed out in the seventh by plate umpire Al Barlick who said the pitcher made a profane remark about his vision.

Banks fifth inning homer, his 30th, scored three runs and put the Cubs ahead 6-5, a lead they never lost.

Five runs in the third inning of the first game enabled Semproch to ease through by scattering six hits. Cub rookie Lou Jackson hit a pinchhit homer with a man on for Chicago's runs.

Kayo Artist Gets Main Go At St. Nick
Steve Ward Tests Matthews Tonight
Boxing shows some much needed new faces this week with men like lightweight Lenny Matthews of Philadelphia, heavyweight Sonny Liston of Philadelphia and middleweight Ace Armstrong of Elizabeth, N.J., in main events.

Matthews, an unbeaten knockout artist, has stopped 12 of his 13 opponents in his brief but all-winning career. He boxes his first main bout Monday at St. Nicholas Arena in New York against Steven Ward of Hartford.

This match at St. Nick's, incidentally, will be the last, at least until Aug. 25. With the termination of the television (DuMont) contract Aug. 4, the ancient arena will take a vacation of at least two weeks. Matchmaker Teddy Brenner has a new TV deal but the network is not set.

Liston, who has lost only one of 19 bouts, faces Wayne Bethea of New York, in a 10-round match Wednesday at the Chicago Stadium. Liston, 26, is on an 11-fight winning streak including 4 this year. In 1958 he has stopped Bill Hunter, Ben Wise, and Julio Mederos and outpointed Bert Whitehurst.

Betha whipped young Jack Johnson in January and lost a decision to Nino Valdes in Denver, April 13, in his only 1958 appearances.

Armstrong is unbeaten in 14 bouts but hasn't seen action since Feb. 17 when he outpointed Charles Joseph. The 26-year-old boxer gets his first Madison Square Garden main event Friday against Rory Calhoun of White Plains, N.Y.

Calhoun is one of the busiest boxers in the ratings. Ranked No. 6 among the middleweights by Ring and No. 8 by the National Boxing Association, he will be making his seventh appearance of the year.

The Matthews-Ward bout will be seen on television (DuMont) in some sections. Liston-Betha will be carried by ABC-TV and Calhoun-Armstrong by NBC radio-TV.

Could Beat Russians
By STERLING SLAPPEY
WARSAW (AP)—"The strongest track and field nations of the world are the United States, Poland and Russia — and you will note I list Poland ahead of Russia," said American Coach George Eastman Sunday.

"If Polish men held a dual meet with the Russians the Poles would win."

"That may surprise many people in the United States, Britain and other places but it is true. Poland would win by 15 points which are about the same number our American men's team defeated Russia last week and Poland last weekend."

Eastman and the American team leave Warsaw by air early Monday for Budapest for a Tuesday and Wednesday meet against Hungarian and Czechoslovakian athletes.

After Budapest the team goes on to Athens to wind up one of the hardest tours any team ever made.

"It has been hard already," Eastman said, "but this is the kind of thing that can help American track a great deal."

"More interest is created in distance events when we run against these Europeans and that can help our progress."

American men defeated Polish men 115-97 and Soviet men 126-109. Soviet women defeated American women 63-44 and Polish women beat the American girls 54-52.

Local Players Enter Mt. Lake Park Net Meet
Mrs. Ton van Strien, Middlekamp To Vie
One Cumberland, the Mrs. Ton van Strien, wife of the Allegany County health officer, a former Cumberland, Lawrence Middlekamp, now of Adelphi, Pa., and Maureen Miller of Keyser, are among the 45 men and 18 women players enrolled for the 37th Western Maryland championship tennis tournament which is scheduled to get under way at 10:30 a. m. Tuesday at Mountain Lake Park in Garrett county.

Drawings for the singles will be held today at 8 p. m.

Phil Neff, of Washington, D. C., winner of the men's singles crown in 1955 and 1957, is among the entries and is hopeful of retiring the Carr Memorial Bowl, 3-year challenge trophy that has been in competition since 1952.

Mrs. Margaret Disco, Forest Hills, N. Y., 1954 champion, is among the women scheduled to battle it out for the three-year challenge trophy.

Alex Keiles, of Washington, D. C., who has earned the title of Honorary Mayor of Mountain Lake Park, will be playing in the tourney for the 34th year.

With a record list of entries expected by closing time today all that is worrying the officials of the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association sanctioned event is the weather which has been rainy for several days. The 1953 tourney was rained out.

Peter Collins, 68, Killed In Sports Car Crash After Crash

Sports Car Driver Dies After Crash

Injured In German Grand Prix; Tony Brooks Wins Race

BONN, Germany (AP) — Peter Collins, one of the big three of British sports car racing, died Sunday night from injuries received when he crashed his Ferrari in the German Grand Prix at nearby Adenau.

Tony Brooks, 26-year-old racing dentist from Glasgow, won the race over the tricky curve-studded course.

Collins, who with Stirling Moss and Mike Hawthorn formed the British big three in auto racing, suffered a fractured skull and brain injuries when his red Ferrari left the track on the 11th lap of the 15-lap race.

Dies In Helicopter

The 27-year-old driver was flown to Bonn in a German army helicopter for an operation in a desperate attempt to save his life. But a member of the Ferrari team said Collins died in the helicopter. At the clinic were American actress, Louise Cordier King, to whom Collins was married last December, and Hawthorn.

Collins was renowned for his daring performances as No. 1 driver for Ferrari, which he joined in 1956. His death came less than a month after Italian ace Luigi Musso was injured fatally in the French Grand Prix at Reims.

The death of Collins cast deep gloom over the triumph of the first all-British victory in the German Grand Prix.

Won At Sebring

Collins has been prominent in just about every sports car race for the last several years. He teamed with Phil Hill of Santa Monica, Calif., for a record-smashing victory in the 12-hour Florida Grand Prix of Endurance at Sebring, Fla., last March.

Brooks drove a British-made Vanwall to victory over the 22.8-kilometer course with 176 trick curves. His time for the 342 kilometers (212.6 miles) was two hours, 21 minutes and 15 seconds. Roy Salvadori of Britain was second in a Cooper. Maurice Trintignant of France, in another Cooper was third.

Gaston Mullegg, 68, Rowing Federation President, Killed

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — Gaston Mullegg, 68, Swiss president of the International Rowing Federation, crashed in his private plane into a home for the aged Sunday and was killed.

Two French industrialists, Jean Mery, 50, and Louis Patricot, 53, were hospitalized with serious injuries.

The plane hit the roof of the home and crashed into an empty terrace. Most of the inmates had retired into the cooler interior of the building. The plane was destroyed and the building severely damaged.

The three-seater tourist plane's single engine went dead soon after takeoff from Lausanne's airfield.

U.S. Tuna Veterans

NEW YORK (AP)—Seven veteran anglers will constitute the United States team in the 15th International Tuna Cup Match at Wedgeport, N. S., Sept. 10-12. Those on the team are John W. Anderson II of Detroit, Frank E. Bivens of Long Beach, Calif., James M. Hutton III of Cincinnati, Robert Maytag of Ponte Verda, Fla., William Negley of San Antonio, Osborne Owings of Washington, D. C., and Stuart Peeler of Los Angeles. The team is the 11th selected by Kip Farrington Jr. of Easthampton, N. Y.

Italy Wins European Zone Davis Cup Finals

MILAN, Italy (AP)—Italy won the European zone Davis Cup finals Sunday 4-1, capturing the last two singles matches.

Italy's Nicola Pietrangeli defeated Billy Knight of Britain 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-1, and Orlando Sirica beat Britain's No. 1, Michael Davies, 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.

The victory now pits Italy against the Philippines, winners of the Asian zone. The Philippine-Italy winner will then play the American zone winner in the cup semifinals in Australia in December.

Phils Divide With Chicago

Cubs Win, 12-10, After 8-2 Defeat

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Home runs by Ernie Banks and rookie Morris Thacker paced the Chicago Cubs to a 12-10 victory over Philadelphia despite two five-run Phillies rallies. Freshman Ray Semproch stilled the Cubs' 8-2 in the doubleheader opener to win his 13th game.

The Cubs overcame a five-run Philadelphia first inning with four-run rallies in the fifth and seventh. Manager Eddie Sawyer threw five pitchers into the game to stifle the 13-hit Cub barrage.

Manager Bob Scheffing of the Cubs used four pitchers, including three in the ninth. Bill Henry fanned Carl Sawatski to end the game with the tying runs on base and a minute to go before the Pennsylvania Sunday curfew law would suspend the game.

Dick Caffell, third Phil reliever, was tossed out in the seventh by plate umpire Al Barlick who said the pitcher made a profane remark about his vision.

Banks fifth inning homer, his 30th, scored three runs and put the Cubs ahead 6-5, a lead they never lost.

Five runs in the third inning of the first game enabled Semproch to ease through by scattering six hits. Cub rookie Lou Jackson hit a pinchhit homer with a man on for Chicago's runs.

Red Sox Trim Indians Twice

Snap Losing Streak With 3-2, 4-2 Wins

CLEVELAND (AP) — Boston broke out of its five-game losing slump Sunday with a doubleheader sweep over the Cleveland Indians 3-2 and 4-2.

Ted Williams' two-run homer in the ninth inning won the opener. Pete Runnels' two-run double featured a four-run eighth inning rally in the nightcap.

The Red Sox also ended Cleveland's seven-game winning string with the sudden burst of hitting power.

Gary Bell was sailing along with a three-hitter and a 2-1 lead until Runnels opened the ninth with a single and Williams followed with his 18th homer, a mighty shot which sailed into the upper right field stands.

In the nightcap, Ray Narleski had a four-hit shutout until Boston got hot with six hits.

Sammy White started the winning rally with a single past shortstop. Don Buddin also singled and Runnels knocked both home with a double to left.

Hoyt Wilhelm replaced Narleski and gave up a single to Marty Keough. Runnels scored when centerfielder Woody Held bobbled Keough's hit. Frank Malzone knocked in the final run with a pop single to right. Jackie Jensen also singled, but was picked off first to retire the side.

The Indians were held to 10 hits in the two games—only four in the opener.

Steve Ward Tests Matthews Tonight

Boxing shows some much needed new faces this week with men like lightweight Lenny Matthews of Philadelphia, heavyweight Sonny Liston of Philadelphia and middleweight Ace Armstrong of Elizabeth, N.J., in main events.

Matthews, an unbeaten knockout artist, has stopped 12 of his 13 opponents in his brief but all-winning career. He boxes his first main bout Monday at St. Nicholas Arena in New York against Steven Ward of Hartford.

This match at St. Nick's, incidentally, will be the last, at least until Aug. 25. With the termination of the television (DuMont) contract Aug. 4, the ancient arena will take a vacation of at least two weeks. Matchmaker Teddy Brenner has a new TV deal but the network is not set.

Bethea whipped young Jack Johnson in January and lost a decision to Nino Valdes in Denver, April 13, in his only 1958 appearances.

Armstrong is unbeaten in 14 bouts but hasn't seen action since Feb. 17 when he outpointed Charley Joseph. The 26-year-old boxer gets his first Madison Square Garden main event Friday against Rory Calhoun of White Plains, N.Y.

Calhoun is one of the busiest boxers in the ratings. Ranked No. 6 among the middleweights by Ring and No. 8 by the National Boxing Association, he will be making his seventh appearance of the year.

The Matthews-Ward bout will be seen on television (DuMont) in some sections. Liston-Bethea will be carried by ABC-TV and Calhoun-Armstrong by NBC radio-TV.

Eastment Says Poles Could Beat Russians

By STERLING SLAPPEY
WARSAW (AP)—"The strongest track and field nations of the world are the United States, Poland and Russia — and you will note I list Poland ahead of Russia," said American Coach George Eastment Sunday.

"If Polish men held a dual meet with the Russians the Poles would win."

"That may surprise many people in the United States, Britain and other places but it is true. Poland would win by 15 points which are about the same number our American men's team defeated Russia last week and Poland this last weekend."

Eastment and the American team leave Warsaw by air early Monday for Budapest for a Tuesday and Wednesday meet against Hungarian and Czechoslovakian athletes.

After Budapest the team goes on to Athens to wind up one of the hardest tours any team ever made.

"It has been hard already," Eastment said, "but this is the kind of thing that can help American track a great deal."

"More interest is created in distance events when we run against these Europeans and that can help our progress."

American men defeated Polish men 115-97 and Soviet men 126-109. Soviet women defeated American women 63-44 and Polish women beat the American girls 54-52.

With a record list of entries expected by closing time today all that is worrying the officials of the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association sanctioned event is the weather which has been rainy for several days. The 1953 tourney was rained out.

Mrs. Ton van Strien, Middlekamp To Vie

One Cumberlander, Mrs. Ton van Strien, wife of the Allegheny County health officer, a former Cumberlander, Lawrence Middlekamp, now of Adelphi, Pa., and Maureen Miller of Keyser, are among the 45 men and 18 women players enrolled for the 37th Western Maryland championship tennis tournament which is scheduled to get under way at 10:30 a. m. Tuesday at Mountain Lake Park in Garrett county.

Drawings for the singles will be held today at 8 p. m.

Phil Neff, of Washington, D. C., winner of the men's singles crown in 1955 and 1957, is among the entries and is hopeful of retiring the Carr Memorial Bowl, 3-year challenge trophy that has been in competition since 1952.

Mrs. Margaret Disco, Forest Hills, N. Y., 1954 champion, is among the women scheduled to battle it out for the three-year challenge trophy.

Alex Keiles, of Washington, D. C., who has earned the title of Honorary Mayor of Mountain Lake Park, will be playing in the tourney for the 34th year.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — In all the years I have known Cary Grant (and that's quite a few), I have never heard him so enthusiastic as he is over exploiting and selling "Indiscreet." He told me that in 13 days he made 14 appearances with the exhibitors in Europe to sell this delightful comedy in which he co-stars with Ingrid Bergman.

"We ran the picture in the theatres with audiences and I had to make speeches. I answered questions, and talked so much I lost my voice," said Cary.

One of his most pleasant experiences was meeting Premier de Valera in Dublin. "I'm told he doesn't usually receive actors," said Cary, "but he was wonderful to me. I also went to Belfast in the north of Ireland, and visited all the little towns around London." Cary also told me that Ingrid Bergman left London the day he that leaves to make news in Cuba —and I'm betting she'll make some news!

The cutest little boy I have talked to in many a day is Teddy Rooney, the eight-year-old son of Martha Vickers and Mickey Rooney. Teddy sings a song with Doris Day in "Jane from Maine" (the new title for "Miss Casey Jones").

It was Mickey who discovered the little boy's talent for acting and put him in "Andy Hardy Comes Home," and it's Mickey who has him under contract. He had heard that the "Mick" is planning a new picture for Teddy but Mickey said he doesn't want to work the little boy too hard. He wants him to love acting and not feel he's being pushed.

Teddy made a lot of sense when I talked to him. He's such a happy child.

LAMPPOST IN MIDDLE

LONDON (UPI) — Anthony Wood, 27, and Ernest Taylor, 31, made a break from the Darlington police station. In front of the station, they dashed on either side of a lamppost and right into a scene from old-fashioned slapstick comedy — they were handcuffed to it. They unwound themselves from the lamppost in time to elude pursuers, however.

When the particles of water forming a cloud are very small, they reflect the light and the cloud appears white. As the particles grow larger, they become raindrops and absorb the light. This causes the cloud to appear black.

A Rhodes scholarship provides for students of the British colonies and the United States to go to Oxford.

County Road Priority Set

A priority system for county road construction was set in action Friday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

On the motion of Commissioner William A. Wilson, seconded by Commissioner C. N. Wilkinson, a "first come, first served" policy will be adopted.

This will be started when the rights-of-way deeded to the county for roads are listed in order of the property being filed for record in the land records office.

The list will be compiled by Harry Skelly, county roads supervisor, and James G. Stevenson, clerk to the county commissioners.

Commissioner Wilkinson charged in the past the work had been done on a favoritism basis.

The commissioners were asked to repair a street along side of LaVale School on request of Mrs. Olive Scott.

The board was thanked for the work it has done to Knob Road by a rural mail carrier, W. J. Twigg, who covers Route 3.

Along the west coast of Africa there is a kind of carp which climbs out of the water and up the trunks of the mangrove trees.

The old trundle beds were originally made to fit under the high four-posters.

It has been estimated that 10 tons of blood must flow through a cow's udder in the production of 50 pounds of milk.

Cary also told me that Ingrid Bergman left London the day he arrived, and returned the day after he left, so he only talked to her on the telephone.

"The Big Fisherman," so long a dream of Roland V. Lee, will soon materialize. Roland told me that already some of the sets have been built on his ranch at Chatsworth, and the Disney interests have given him financial backing. He will release through Walt's company.

"The Big Fisherman" may be a dream of Roland's, but it's the story of St. Peter. The base of the Lee Company will be the U-I Studio, and Roland hopes to get started this year although he has not yet found the star to play St. Peter.

They had planned to make the picture in Beirut but that's impossible now.

Zsa Zsa Gabor won't be going to the Dominican Republic, but she will head for Cuba this month to make "Mr. Pharaoh and the Cleopatra" with Gilbert Roland.

Said the vivacious Hungarian beauty, "I always wanted to make a picture with Gilbert Roland. He's one of my favorites."

This movie is being made for Eldorado Productions by Bruce Newberry, former associate of Mike Frankovich in England, with Don Weiss directing.

The ubiquitous Zsa Zsa leaves Thursday for Chicago and two weeks at the Chez Paree. Then she comes back here to do a "December Bride" TV show, and after that leaves to make news in Cuba—and I'm betting she'll make some news!

The cutest little boy I have talked to in many a day is Teddy Rooney, the eight-year-old son of Martha Vickers and Mickey Rooney. Teddy sings a song with Doris Day in "Jane from Maine" (the new title for "Miss Casey Jones").

HENRY

Panel 1: Henry is playing a piano. Panel 2: Henry is walking away from the piano, looking thoughtful. Panel 3: Henry is walking away from the piano, looking determined. Panel 4: Henry is playing the piano again, and a small object is on the floor.

Panel 1: Beetle Bailey, wearing a crown and a "SARGE" patch, sits in a jeep saying "OUT OF MY WAY, SARGE!!". A speech bubble from Sarge says "WHO SAID THAT?!!".

Panel 2: Sarge, wearing a helmet, looks on. A speech bubble from him says "I DID! WANNA MAKE SOMETHING OF IT?".

Panel 3: A tank with a star on its side is shown.

Panel 4: A tank with a star on its side is shown, with a speech bubble saying "THAT'S THE SPIRIT, BEETLE".

DICK TRACY

PANEL 1: A man in a parachute suit is being lowered by a rope. He says, "YES, YOU HEARD ME—YOU'LL NEED THE PARACHUTE."

PANEL 2: A propeller-driven plane flies overhead. The man in the parachute suit says, "JUST—ME?" and the pilot replies, "YES, JUST YOU, MR. TRACY."

PANEL 3: The man in the parachute suit is on the ground, looking up at the plane. He says, "NO MOTOR TROUBLE? EVERYTHING FINE? BUT I'M DITCHING?" and the pilot replies, "—ALONE!"

PANEL 4: The man in the parachute suit is at a bar, looking at a woman. He says, "HAVE YOU EVER MADE A PARACHUTE DROP BEFORE, MR. TRACY?" and she replies, "WHAT DO YOU THINK?"

"If it turns out that today isn't our anniversary, will you take them back?"

A two-panel comic strip. In the first panel, a man in a suit sits at a desk in an office labeled "CHILD PSYCHOLOGY". A woman in a nurse's uniform stands by the door, which has a sign "OFFICE HOURS ONE TO FIVE". In the second panel, the man is asleep at his desk, and the woman is laughing while holding a small object.

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 127 of the Charter of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, (1950 Edition), notice is hereby given that the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland did, in regular session Monday, July 7, 1958, approve the Report of Commissioners for the closing of Tonkaway Avenue from its intersection with Greene Street to Brown Avenue; a portion of Van Buren Avenue from its intersection with Tonkaway Avenue to Euclid Avenue; the closing of two (2) unnamed alleys, one of which runs from Tonkaway Avenue to Euclid Avenue and parallel with Greene Street and Van Buren Avenue and the other running from Tonkaway Avenue to Euclid Avenue and parallel with Van Buren Avenue and Brown Avenue. Development Company's Ridgegate Addition to Cumberland.

After meeting on the premises and hearing those persons who were affected by the closing of said streets and alleys and portions of streets, the Commissioners present the following:

The Commissioners retired for deliberation and came to the conclusion that in view of the aforementioned agreement (agreement between City of Cumberland and property owners for frontage charge and sewer tapage fee when sewer is tapped and grading and light surfacing of Van Buren Avenue from Capitol Avenue to Euclid Avenue) the property owners involved will sustain no damages and no benefits should be assessed.

It is further understood that the burden of advertising the closing of said streets and alleys has been assumed by the City as part of its obligation to assemble property for the Armory site, and that, accordingly, the closing of the streets and alleys, as well as the fees of the Commissioners, should be borne by the Mayor and City Council.

Any person desiring to file a corporation feeling aggrieved by the decision of the Commissioners may appeal therefrom within thirty (30) days after July 7, 1958, and file written notice of such appeal with the City Clerk of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, who will transmit the same to the Circuit Court for Allegany County to be docketed for jury trial.

Deaths And Funerals

CHARLES L. HEINRICH

Charles L. Heinrich, 89, of 134 Seymour Street, died yesterday at Crump Nursing Home where he had been a patient five weeks.

A native of Oldtown, he was a son of the late John H. and Margaret (Schilling) Heinrich. He was a retired employee of the old N&G Taylor Tin Plate Company and a member of Trinity Methodist Church.

Mr. Heinrich is survived by a number of nieces and nephews.

The body is at the Hafer Funeral Home.

MRS. DOROTHY I. ROBERTSON

Mrs. Dorothy Ida Robertson, 82, widow of William H. Robertson, died Saturday at the Palm Worth Nursing Home in Lake Worth, Fla., where she had been a patient about five months. Mrs. Robertson fell last winter while visiting in Lake Worth and had been in the nursing home since that time.

Her husband and Philip J. Arden organized the Cumberland Contracting Company in 1917.

Mr. Robertson died in 1946.

A native of Brooklyn, Mrs. Robertson was a daughter of the late George and Elizabeth Winter. She is survived by a niece, Miss Dorothy A. Winter, of Lake Worth.

Mrs. Robertson was a member of Emmanuel Episcopal Church and had resided at the Algonquin Hotel.

The body will be at the George Funeral Home here after noon Tuesday.

JOSEPH GRECO

FROSTBURG — Joseph Greco, 83, who resided with his son, Frank J. Greco, 39 North Water Street, died early yesterday in Memorial hospital Cumberland.

He was the husband of the late Rose (Bisceglia) Greco and was a native of Cosenza, Italy. He was a member of St. Michael's Catholic Church and United Mine Workers of America, District 16, Local 3817.

Surviving are five other sons, Albert Greco, Frostburg; M. Sgt. Marino A. Greco, Langley Field, Va.; Ernest Greco, Steelton, Pa.; Louis Greco, Geneva, Ohio; M. Sgt. George M. Greco, Larson Air Force base, Washington; two daughters, Mrs. Ida Tambrery, Harrisburg, Pa., and Mrs. Esther Sherman, Verone, Italy; two grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

The body will be at the Durst Funeral Home where friends will be received from 2 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

MRS. ALBERTA PORTER

WILMINGTON, Del.—Mrs. Al. Berta Porter, 86, former resident of Cumberland, and the widow of Frank J. Porter, died Friday in a nursing home here.

She is survived by two sons, Francis Porter, New York, and Fred W. Porter, Marion Street, Cumberland; six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Services and interment will be in Wilmington Monday.

The family requests that flowers be omitted.

LIPSOMB SERVICES
Services for Mrs. Mollie Rebecca Lipscomb, 88, who died Friday at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Virginia Walker, 328 Emily Street, will be conducted at the Hafer Funeral Home today at 10:30 a. m. with the Rev. Paul W. Swick officiating. Interment will be in the McNeely Cemetery, Hendricks, W. Va.

Pallbearers will be Amos Mertzfeldt, Sylvester Walker, Forrest Morris, Stanley Morris, Charles Morris and Calvin Lipscomb.

Two 4-H Girls
Honored At Camp
LONAONING — Two Lonaconing 4-H Girls were honored at a 4-H candlelight ceremony at the camp fire Friday evening at Pleasant Valley, Western Maryland 4-H Center.

Mrs. Avis Ward conducted the candlelight ceremony and lit the first candle. Miss Pat Schlereth was chosen as "The Spirit of 4-H" and lit the second candle. Miss Beverly Wattenschaidt was selected as "Health," one of the 4-H's, Head, Heart, Hands and Heart, to have a lighted candle in the center of the Camp Fire ring for the special closing services.

The 4-H Girls camp closed Saturday morning and 20 Lonaconing 4-H Girls returned home with their parents. The "Mohawks" tribe which included several Lonaconing girls, won the Golden Feather award for attaining the highest number of points during the week. Miss Nancy Dicken was tribe leader for the group which placed a close second.

Complaint Heard
KEYSER — Ieseme Panella, operator of the City Restaurant, was absolved of blame at a hearing in Charleston before R. D. Platt, beer commissioner for West Virginia, in connection with complaints of keeping and exhibiting a gaming device.

A pinball machine was mentioned in the charges.

WORKER KILLED
SUTTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Authorities at the Sutton Dam construction on Elk River Friday attempted to determine the cause of an accident which took the life Thursday of a 46-year-old worker 10 minutes after he reported for his first day of work. Austin Cogar, father of two children, died when the dump truck he was driving plunged 60 feet into a concrete coffer.

Light Voting Expected In W.Va. Primaries

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginians faced a precedent-breaking primary election Tuesday with little or no apparent interest.

Except in cases where local factional fights were stirring up unusual interest, there appeared to be little doubt but what only one of every three persons eligible to cast a ballot would do so.

Most political observers believe if one-third of the 660,850 Democrats and 410,929 Republicans cast ballots it will be equivalent to a "large turnout." Predictions are less than 33 per cent of the eligible voters will take part in the election to determine candidates for party tickets in the November ballot.

For the first time in history of the state voters will have an opportunity to choose candidates for two U. S. Senate seats.

A six-year term and the unexpired two years remaining of the late Sen. M. M. Neely's term will be filled this year.

The men presently holding the two seats are unopposed in the primary balloting. Republican Sens. Chapman Revercomb and John D. Hobbittzell will automatically be included in the November balloting.

But there are three Democrats seeking the right to oppose Revercomb's bid for the six-year term and four hoping to win voter approval for the post opposite Hobbittzell.

The Senate race also has created additional interest because of the comeback attempt of former Gov. William C. Marland. The former governor lost in an attempt to beat Revercomb two years ago when the Charleston Republican moved to Washington to fill the unexpired two years of the late Sen. Harley Kilgore's term.

Marland is one of four seeking to oppose Hobbittzell. The others are Jennings Randolph, a former congressman; Arnold Vickers, a former state senate president, and Del. W. R. (Squib) Wilson of Marion County.

Heavy Rainfall Fails To Bring Flood Threat

Creek Coffer Dams May Be Damaged

Cumberland yesterday had more than twice as much rain as it had in the entire month of August last year.

Robert R. Golden, official weather observer at Constitution Park, said 1.55 inches of rainfall had been recorded last night at 9 o'clock.

In August 1957, only .77 inch of rain fell in Cumberland, to make that month the driest August in 76 years. The previous low reading was in 1881, when only .31 inch was recorded here.

Although nearly three inches of rain has fallen in the city during the first three days of this month, there was no sign of any flood danger.

No Flood Danger
City Engineer C. R. Nuzum, who is chairman for the area flood warning system, said the Weather Bureau had sent no flood alert for this area.

He said Wills Creek was up several feet but that there was no sign of flooding.

Mr. Golden said that when he checked the river level at 6 p. m. it was only 4.6 feet, and had only risen slightly all day. The present flood stage here is 17 feet.

A Hazlewood Construction Company crane crew worked several hours last night to recover a pump which had been used to pump water from the area of a Western Maryland Bridge pier in Wills Creek near Baltimore Street.

It will be impossible, until the water recedes, to learn if coffer dams built for flood work in Wills Creek are damaged.

Marooned by the surging waters, The News was told, were a frog and a mouse who were seen keeping company on a ledge of the flood wall near the Valley Street Bridge.

Could Be Wettest August

Along with the 1.55 inches of rain that fell yesterday, .71 inch fell on Friday and .44 inch was recorded Thursday. The last day of each month is recorded with the next month's total, Mr. Golden said. He added that a trace also fell late Saturday night.

The total of 2.70 inches of rain for the first few days of August may lead to one of the wettest months in the city's history if the present pace continues.

The weatherman calls for continued showers this morning to end in the afternoon. The sun is predicted to break through this afternoon to help dry out the rain-soaked area.

The temperature has been hovering around the 70-degree mark since Thursday with the exception of Saturday afternoon when it reached 82 degrees. The high today is expected to be in the low 80s.

Paul M. Butler Will Speak At Demo Dinner

Paul M. Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, will speak at the Allegany County Democratic dinner Thursday, September 4, at the All Ghan Shrine Country Club to mark the beginning of the statewide campaign.

Thomas B. Finan, chairman of the County Democratic State Central Committee, who is also chairman of the party's campaign organization in the state's 23 counties, received confirmation of Butler's speaking engagement over the weekend.

Mr. Finan said all four main candidates for statewide office will be here to kick off the fall campaign.

J. Millard Tawes, candidate for governor, will be accompanied by Mayor Thomas D'Alessandro for U. S. Senate; C. Ferdinand Sybert for re-election as attorney general, and State Senator Louis Goldstein, who is seeking the comptroller's job.

Other candidates, including John R. Foley, who is running for Congress in the Sixth District, as well as those running for Allegany County offices will attend. Mr. Finan said Julius Schindler, this city, is chairman in charge of arrangements for the $5-a-plate dinner which will be held at 7 p. m.

Local Man In Cast

Flintstone Teacher Helps Children With Problems

By F. ALLAN WEATHERHOLT
News Staff Writer

Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it. Proverbs XXII, 6.

A problem in education which troubles many teachers, many parents and of course many students, is the inability to read well, to write properly, and most of all, to understand what one reads.

Slides, Water Block Roads In West Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Torrential - like thunder showers drenched central and southern West Virginia Sunday inundating low lying areas around Parkersburg and Charleston and blocking several highways with earth slides and high water.

The U. S. Weather Bureau station at Charleston said 3.47 inches of rain fell in the state's capital city between 1 p. m. Saturday and 1 p. m. Sunday.

Low-lying areas in Charleston adjacent to Elk River were flooded and some families were evacuated from their homes. State Route 14 leading from the city to Kanawha County Airport was blocked because of high water.

No deaths or injuries had been reported to State Police.

But U. S. 21 north of Charleston and U. S. 60 east of the city were blocked. State Police said high waters in Pocatalico River had blocked the Charleston-Parkersburg highway about 20 miles northwest of here.

An earth-slide on U. S. 60 near Montgomery was passable only with one-way traffic. There was no indication when the debris might be cleared.

U. S. 119 about 20 miles north of Charleston between Spencer, Roane County, and Clendenin, Kanawha County, also was blocked by high water.

At Parkersburg, 2.68 inches of water were reported to have fallen in the 24 hour period ending at 1 p. m. Sunday. A cloudburst in the Wood County area at 5 a. m. washed out a section of main-line Baltimore & Ohio railroad tracks and caused a fast-moving freight to derail. One tank car caught fire and preliminary estimates of damage reached the $1,000,000 mark.

A weather bureau spokesman said the showers would continue through Sunday night, ending some time early Monday morning.

The heaviest showers were reported in an area of central West Virginia, just north of Charleston. Measurement of the fall was not available, but observers of Elk River at Charleston noted a large amount of debris in the stream late Sunday.

This, they said, was caused by heavy rains in the Roane, Clay and Kanawha County areas where small streams feed into the river.

Also at Charleston, hundreds of spectators lined the river banks in between showers to watch the debris laden waters feed into the Kanawha River.

Lamont Playground Lists Activities

A jitterbug dance contest tonight will feature this week's activities at Lamont Street playground.

Tomorrow at 7 p. m. a stuffed animal show is scheduled and games will also be held tonight and Friday night. A movie will be shown Thursday evening at dusk.

Winners in last week's flower show were Roberta Bates, Patricia Walker and Phyllis Smith. Winners in the rock and roll contest were Martha Hedrick, Freeman Welsh, Phyllis Smith and Carolyn Willong.

Anyone from the playground who plans to attend the fishing rodeo Saturday must sign up by Thursday.

Around the table are Galen Bean, Charles Witt, Charles Edenhart, Chris Kelly, Ronald Horn, Thomas Hamilton, Jack McFarland, Stanley Morris, Richard Witt, and Harland Bean. Absent were Billy Shanholts and Richard Keller. There were 53 applications for the special classes this year.

Thruway Start Is Postponed To Tomorrow

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the beginning of the Cumberland Thruway have been deferred until tomorrow at 1:30 p. m., according to Mayor J. Edwin Keech.

The brief ceremonies will be held at Fifth and Seymour streets, near where the Cumberland Contracting Company will begin work on the Industrial Highway, the Line C section of the Thruway.

Construction was slated to begin today but was deferred due to rain.

Tawes Proposes High Mental Health Budget

BALTIMORE (AP)—J. Millard Tawes says Maryland must raise its budget for mental hospitals and in other ways improve the institutions to get them back in good standing.

The Democratic candidate for governor gave his detailed views on the mental health problem in a weekend statement released at his headquarters here.

As a companion recommendation, he urged that the out-patient mental health clinics should be expanded so as to reduce the number of mental patients admitted and readmitted to state hospitals.

"The best way to reduce the cost of hospital care of the mentally ill is to find ways and means of diagnosing and treating mental illness before hospitalization becomes necessary," he said.

Tawes declared budget sights must be raised to improve the institutional health charts of such hospitals as Springfield and Spring Grove. They were recently given a black eye by national accreditation associations which said the hospitals were overcrowded and lacked sufficient trained professional personnel.

As Democratic candidate for governor, Tawes promised to seek to enlist the talents of mental health experts in the state's top educational and medical institutions—Johns Hopkins and the University of Maryland.

The candidate stated that withdrawal of accreditation from the two hospitals was "a sobering reminder of the great distance which our state has to go before we can say that we are taking proper care of our mentally ill."

This summer, 12 more students have just completed this special tutelage under Mr. Bean's kind and patient guidance. All have shown remarkable improvement.

Because of the limitation placed upon available space in his home, an even dozen is about all his living room—converted—classroom will accommodate. Then, too, there is the problem for many families of transportation. He had 53 inquiries about his summer classes, but only 12 who could provide their own transportation were accommodated.

Ever since he was a student in the elementary grades himself, and during his almost three decades of teaching, the problem has been a challenge to him. He has not been afraid to try new methods or individual approaches to this basic problem of learning. And after many years of study, trial and error, he is now confident that he has hit upon a basic plan which fills the need and which properly teaches children to learn to read and write.

Legion To Hold Child Welfare Picnic Today

200 Youngsters To Attend Annual Event

The third annual Child Welfare Picnic, sponsored by Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, will be held today, beginning at 1 p. m., at Minke's on Christie Road.

Some 200 children of this area, about 50 more than in previous years, are expected to attend the outing. Included will be children selected by the Allegany County League for Crippled Children, the Allegany-Garrett Heart Association, the Allegany County chapter of the American Red Cross and the Associated Charities.

The children will be taken to the picnic grounds on buses donated by Jacob Wilson, Christie Road and the picnic site will be donated by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Minke.

Leave At 1 p. m.

Buses will leave the Legion Home today at 1 p. m. Cars furnished by the Ford Motor Company, Thompson Buick and Lincoln-Mercury will pick up crippled children at the League headquarters at the same time.

The Red Cross will set up an emergency field station at the picnic site which will be supervised by a detail furnished by the Cumberland Auxiliary Police.

Eugene Mason, city recreation director, and members of his summer staff, will supervise the picnic games program. Rides on two ponies provided by Fred M. Propst will be available for the children.

Picnic food will be served on the pavilion by members of the Ladies Auxiliary of the post.

Supervised swimming will also be available.

Dr. Allen In Charge

Dr. William Allen has been named chairman of the picnic for the third year, with Paul C. Weismiller, post commander, co-chairman.

Other members of the picnic committee are Harold Davis, Charles Griffin, Truman C. Fuller, Phil Fleming and Mervin Wolford.

Lifeguards will be Joseph Maccon, Albert Eyer, James Crawford and Roger Norris.

An auxiliary group headed by Mrs. Emma Reed, will supervise swimming for girls.

Fay Carter and Vernon Crable will be in charge of the Auxiliary Police detail and John Allen will be supervisor of the picnic ground.

The picnic is sponsored in cooperation with the 40 and 8.

The rain date, Dr. Allen said, will be next Monday, August 11.

Mt. Savage Man Hurt In Accident

George Coleman, 34, Mt. Savage, was admitted to Memorial Hospital early yesterday morning following an accident on a rural route near Hyndman, Pa.

Mr. Coleman sustained a possible fractured nose and face lacerations. He was reported in "good" condition last night at the hospital.

Pennsylvania State Police at Bedford did not have a full report on the accident but it was reported that the auto operated by Mr. Coleman struck another vehicle.

Minister Killed

McCONNELLSBURG, Pa. (AP)—An auto crashed into a guard rail Sunday on the Pennsylvania Turnpike near here, killing an Ohio minister.

State police identified the victim as the Rev. Hubert Goodman, 50, of Steubenville, Ohio.

Officers said the Rev. Mr. Goodman was attempting to pass a truck as his auto crashed into the guard rail. He died of a compound fractured skull about 20 minutes after the accident.

City Voting Rolls Drop To 11,765

Only 13 Placed On Books During July

Registered voters in the City of Cumberland decreased 56 to 11,765 during July, according to a report by Mrs. Ruth Mangus, registration clerk.

Only 13 new voters, seven white males and six white females, were registered during July. During the month, the names of 62 known dead were removed from the voting rolls.

This represented an accumulation of the period from May 13 to June 25, when the books were closed for the primary and general municipal election.

The names of six other voters who had moved out of town were removed, as was one voter, whose name was duplicated in the files.

Mrs. Mangus said poll workers, from personal knowledge, reported a number of deceased voters and the ones who had moved outside the city.

On August 1, the city voting records included the names of 6,130 white males, 5,423 white females, 133 colored males and 79 colored females for a total of 11,765.

There were 11,811 voters qualified to cast ballots in the June primary and general municipal elections.

GOP Finance Unit To Hold Kickoff Event

Dinner Set Tuesday At Country Club

The Republican Party in Allegany County will kick off its fund campaign for the coming election at a dinner meeting tomorrow at 7 p. m. in the Cumberland Country Club.

Edmund S. Burke, president of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, will preside at the meeting which will be attended by about 60 leaders of the Republican Party of this county.

No candidates will be present at the meeting, which will be devoted to completing plans for a comprehensive fund campaign.

The GOP finance committee is expected to set a fund goal at its meeting Tuesday night, according to J. Glenn Beall Jr., chairman of the Allegany County Republican State Central Committee.

Rep. Hyde Opens Campaign Offices

Congressman DeWitt S. Hyde, who is running for re-election to the House of Representatives from the Sixth District, has announced he has officially opened his campaign headquarters in Wheaton.

The headquarters are located at 11031 Viers Mill Road, and Mrs. Ann C. Smith will serve as campaign manager. Other officials there include Alvin L. Aubinoe, finance chairman, and J. R. Gorman, treasurer and political agent.

Other county chairmen representing the five counties in the Sixth Congressional District are J. Glenn Beall Jr., Allegany County; Emmert R. Bowles, Frederick County; William D. Casteel, Garrett County; David Scull, Montgomery County; and Joseph S. Ward, Washington County.

Ohio Driver Hurt As Car, Truck Collide

Rig Breaks Away On Cooper Mountain

A tractor-trailer truck went out of control on Cooper Mountain on U. S. Route 50 yesterday morning and struck an auto, injuring a driver from Ohio.

West Virginia State Police at Romney said a truck operated by Robert L. Troxell, Lafayette Street, Cumberland, hit an auto operated by Kenneth E. Lucas, 26, of Lancaster, Ohio.

Police said Mr. Lucas was taken to Winchester (Va.) Memorial Hospital, where he was admitted with face and eye lacerations and abrasions of the left side of his body.

Rig Jackknifes

A passenger in the car operated by Mr. Lucas, Edward C. Cochran, 17, of Chandler, Ind., was treated at the hospital for minor lacerations.

The police said Mr. Troxell was headed down the eastern side of the mountain when he lost control of his vehicle. The rig jackknifed, crashing into the left side of the Lucas auto which was headed west on Route 50 near Romney.

The car was demolished and the police said the two men in the car were lucky to have escaped with minor injuries. Mr. Troxell and Alfred Hunter, this city, a passenger in the truck, escaped without injury.

The police said Mr. Troxell has been charged with reckless driving.

Car Upsets
State Police at Romney also investigated an accident in which another car was demolished late Saturday.

They said a car operated by Carl T. Smith, 52, Springfield, W. Va., crashed on the Green Spring Road about 11 p. m. Saturday.

The auto skidded 234 feet, according to police, rolled over twice and crashed into a bank. Mr. Smith left the scene of the mishap and was arrested later on a reckless driving charge, police said.

Neither Smith nor Frank E. Neiszeller, a passenger in the car, was injured in the crash.

Bedford Road Optimist Club To Outline Work

The Bedford Road Optimist Club will outline the work for the coming year at its weekly meeting tomorrow evening at the Bedford Road Fire Hall.

A meeting of the board of directors has been scheduled for after the regular meeting.

Interchange Bridge Is In Use

Cars roll over the new Western Maryland-B & O interchange bridge built by the Corps of Engineers in connection with the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection project. The bridge, which crosses the old C & O Canal just south of the Western Maryland station, replaces a span across the Potomac River which will be demolished as soon as the Western Maryland Bridge across Wills Creek is completed. The bridge and its approaches were built by the E. J. Albrecht Company as part of Section 2 of the Potomac River work. Track work was completed recently by the railway.

Heavy Rainfall Fails To Bring Flood Threat

Creek Coffer Dams May Be Damaged

Cumberland yesterday had more than twice as much rain as it had in the entire month of August last year.

Robert R. Golden, official weather observer at Constitution Park, said 1.55 inches of rainfall had been recorded last night at 9 o'clock.

In August 1957, only .77 inch of rain fell in Cumberland, to make that month the driest August in 76 years. The previous low reading was in 1881, when only .31 inch was recorded here.

Although nearly three inches of rain has fallen in the city during the first three days of this month, there was no sign of any flood danger.

No Flood Danger
City Engineer C. R. Nuzum, who is chairman for the area flood warning system, said the Weather Bureau had sent no flood alert for this area.

He said Wills Creek was up several feet but that there was no sign of flooding.

Mr. Golden said that when he checked the river level at 6 p. m. it was only 4.6 feet, and had only risen slightly all day. The present flood stage here is 17 feet.

A Hazlewood Construction Company crane crew worked several hours last night to recover a pump which had been used to pump water from the area of a Western Maryland Bridge pier in Wills Creek near Baltimore Street.

It will be impossible, until the water recedes, to learn if coffer dams built for flood work in Wills Creek are damaged.

Marooned by the surging waters, The News was told, were a frog and a mouse who were seen keeping company on a ledge of the flood wall near the Valley Street Bridge.

Could Be Wettest August

Along with the 1.55 inches of rain that fell yesterday, .71 inch fell on Friday and .44 inch was recorded Thursday. The last day of each month is recorded with the next month's total, Mr. Golden said. He added that a trace also fell late Saturday night.

The total of 2.70 inches of rain for the first few days of August may lead to one of the wettest months in the city's history if the present pace continues.

The weatherman calls for continued showers this morning to end in the afternoon. The sun is predicted to break through this afternoon to help dry out the rain-soaked area.

The temperature has been hovering around the 70-degree mark since Thursday with the exception of Saturday afternoon when it reached 82 degrees. The high today is expected to be in the low 80s.

Paul M. Butler Will Speak At Demo Dinner

Paul M. Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, will speak at the Allegany County Democratic dinner Thursday, September 4, at the All Ghan Shrine Country Club to mark the beginning of the statewide campaign.

Thomas B. Finan, chairman of the County Democratic State Central Committee, who is also chairman of the party's campaign organization in the state's 23 counties, received confirmation of Butler's speaking engagement over the weekend.

Mr. Finan said all four main candidates for statewide office will be here to kick off the fall campaign.

J. Millard Tawes, candidate for governor, will be accompanied by Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro for U. S. Senate. C. Ferdinand Sybert for re-election as attorney general, and State Senator Louis Goldstein, who is seeking the comptroller's job.

Other candidates, including John R. Foley, who is running for Congress in the Sixth District, as well as those running for Allegany County offices will attend.

Mr. Finan said Julius Schindler, this city, is chairman in charge of arrangements for the $5-a-plate dinner which will be held at 7 p. m.

Local Man In Cast

Donald Loughrie, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Loughrie, 361 Baltimore Avenue, is a member of the cast of "The Great Sebastians" which will be presented August 12-16 by the Huron Playhouse, Huron, Ohio.

Deaths

Flintstone Teacher Helps Children With Problems

By F. ALLAN WEATHERHOLT
News Staff Writer

Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it. Proverbs XXII, 6.

A problem in education which troubles many teachers, many parents and of course many students, is the inability to read well, to write properly, and most of all, to understand what one reads.

Slides, Water Block Roads In West Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Torrential-like thunder showers drenched central and southern West Virginia Sunday inundating low lying areas around Parkersburg and Charleston and blocking several highways with earth slides and high water.

The U. S. Weather Bureau station at Charleston said 3.47 inches of rain fell in the state's capital city between 1 p. m. Saturday and 1 p. m. Sunday.

Low-lying areas in Charleston adjacent to Elk River were flooded and some families were evacuated from their homes. State Route 14 leading from the city to Kanawha County Airport was blocked because of high water.

No deaths or injuries had been reported to State Police.

But U. S. 21 north of Charleston and U. S. 60 east of the city were blocked. State Police said high waters in Pocatalico River had blocked the Charleston-Parkersburg highway about 20 miles northwest of here.

An earth-slide on U. S. 60 near Montgomery was passable only with one-way traffic. There was no indication when the debris might be cleared.

U. S. 119 about 20 miles north of Charleston between Spencer, Roane County, and Clendenin, Kanawha County, also was blocked by high water.

At Parkersburg, 2.68 inches of water were reported to have fallen in the 24 hour period ending at 1 p. m. Sunday. A cloudburst in the Wood County area at 5 a. m. washed out a section of main-line Baltimore & Ohio railroad tracks and caused a fast-moving freight to derail. One tank car caught fire and preliminary estimates of damage reached the $1,000,000 mark.

A weather bureau spokesman said the showers would continue through Sunday night, ending some time early Monday morning.

The heaviest showers were reported in an area of central West Virginia, just north of Charleston. Measurement of the fall was not available, but observers of Elk River at Charleston noted a large amount of debris in the stream late Sunday.

This, they said, was caused by heavy rains in the Roane, Clay and Kanawha County areas where small streams feed into the river.

Also at Charleston, hundreds of spectators lined the river banks in between showers to watch the debris laden waters feed into the Kanawha River.

Thruway Start Is Postponed To Tomorrow

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the beginning of the Cumberland Thruway have been deferred until tomorrow at 1:30 p. m., according to Mayor J. Edwin Keech.

The brief ceremonies will be held at Fifth and Seymour streets, near where the Cumberland Contracting Company will begin work on the Industrial Highway, the Line C section of the Thruway.

Construction was slated to begin today but was deferred due to rain.

Tawes Proposes High Mental Health Budget

BALTIMORE (AP)—J. Millard Tawes says Maryland must raise its budget for mental hospitals and in other ways improve the institutions to get them back in good standing.

The Democratic candidate for governor gave his detailed views on the mental health problem in a weekend statement released at his headquarters here.

As a companion recommendation, he urged that the out-patient mental health clinics should be expanded so as to reduce the number of mental patients admitted and readmitted to state hospitals.

"The best way to reduce the cost of hospital care of the mentally ill is to find ways and means of diagnosing and treating mental illness before hospitalization becomes necessary," he said.

Tawes declared budget sights must be raised to improve the institutional health charts of such hospitals as Springfield and Spring Grove. They were recently given a black eye by national accrediting associations which said the hospitals were overcrowded and lacked sufficient trained professional personnel.

As Democratic candidate for governor, Tawes promised to seek to enlist the talents of mental health experts in the state's top educational and medical institutions—Johns Hopkins and the University of Maryland.

Bedford Road Optimist Club To Outline Work

The Bedford Road Optimist Club will outline the work for the coming year at its weekly meeting tomorrow evening at the Bedford Road Fire Hall.

A meeting of the board of directors has been scheduled for after the regular meeting.

Interchange Bridge Is In Use

Cars roll over the new Western Maryland-B & O interchange bridge built by the Corps of Engineers in connection with the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection project. The bridge, which crosses the old C & O Canal just south of the Western Maryland station, replaces a span across the Potomac River which will be demolished as soon as the Western Maryland Bridge across Wills Creek is completed. The bridge and its approaches were built by the E. J. Albrecht Company as part of Section 2 of the Potomac River work. Track work was completed recently by the railway.
